I am Sander Maertens, a researcher and philosopher at the Free University of Brussels. My work focuses on the ethics and philosophy of outer space. I am currently developing and writing research articles covering a range of topics within this emerging field.