Taking Measurements

1. Band: Measure above your bust.
Measure all the way around. Take number and round up to nearest even number.
2. Bust: Measure around your bust.
Measure your bust all the way around at the fullest part
3. Cup Size = Bust measurement minus Band measurement
Subtract the cup measurement from the band measurement and check the chart

Difference	Cup Size
1"	A
2"	B
3"	C
4"	D
5"	DD
6"	F
7"	G
8"	H
9"	I
10"	J
11"	K
12"	L

Tips for Sewing Bra Cup

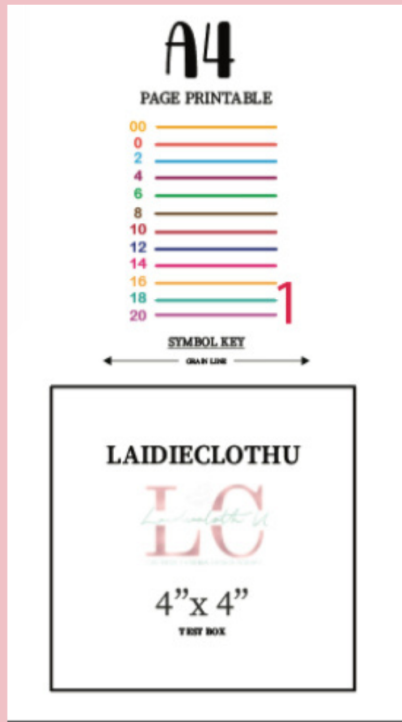

This pattern has two printing
options Ao & A4

Pattern Assembly Guide

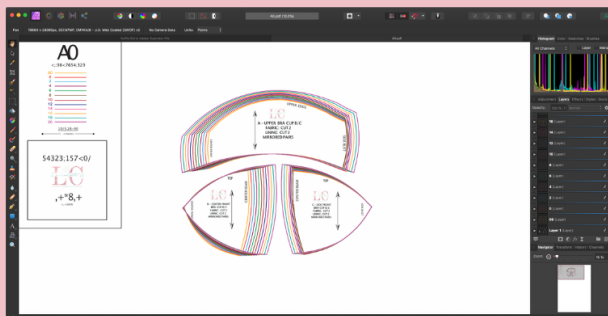

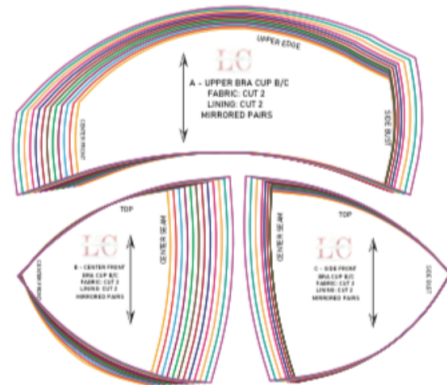

Instructions for Sewing A Corset

Colors Correspond with Size

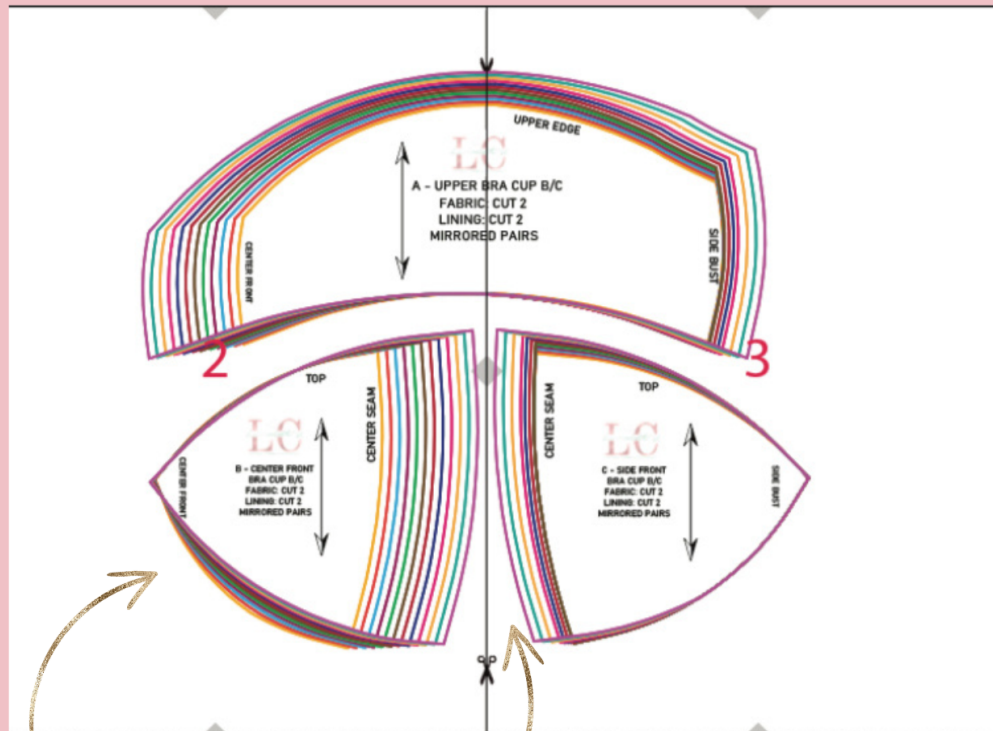

Use Test Box to ensure that you are scaling to the right size.

Be sure to pay attention to seam allowance marks
Tip; use marker/pen in similar color & highlight size prior to cutting pattern

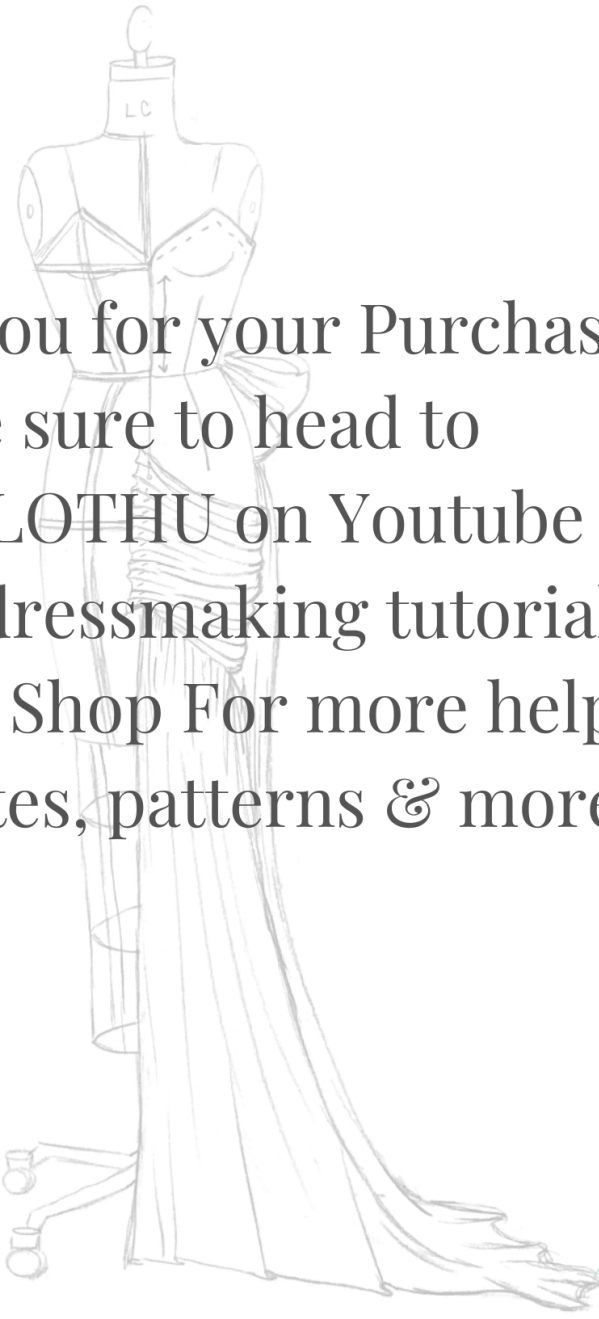

For easier viewing and printing, you can isolate the pattern size with programs like Adobe PhotoShop or other photo shop programs

Use arrows to connect pages

Transfer all markings from your pattern to your test pattern to ensure you are placing each pattern correctly.

To connect pieces use zigzag stitch.
If you don't have a machine that zigzags add 1/4 inch seam allowance to the center seam, the "top" of lower cups and the bottom of the "upper" bra cup. Then sew them together as usual.
