

PNV and PP win elections

The triumph of the PNV in the Basque Country and PP in Galicia shows that the polls are always generous with parties who know how to govern. Good management is undisputed that both formations have done in their respective autonomies. The peneuvistas have wagered throughout his term by social policies with excellent results. Health, Education and Social Protection in the Basque Country are remarkable. And this is not me, says the rest of autonomies. Another thing that made you add votes to PNV is a return to moderation. Far from betting on rupturistas adventure training "jeltzale" it remains in self defense but ruling out any unilateral track that means skipping the law. With this sensible speech fetch the vote of many Basques. In the Galician scenario, we have the popular Alberto Nunez Feijoo, who has won 41 seats. Three above an absolute majority. Despite the recession and the crisis, with its policy of austerity, Feijoo has managed to balance the books and respect the public deficit. He has also managed to productive sectors were stuck, like shipbuilding, automotive or slate have returned to boot. But there are things to be done. Feijoo urgent need to lower the unemployment rate, set at 17%, and finish the improvement of Galician hospital network.