

Hey team, box up!

I like your motive to inspire people to get in shape, and I agree with that a lot. I am offering you a free service that I usually charge for, but I am making a special exception for your business because of the amount the business has accomplished over certain circumstances.

I see your slogan isn't quite catchy, which is vital to bringing in consumers, and that's where I come in. I have been studying humans, how they act, and what influences them to act and buy. So I am offering to create you a slogan in exchange for the testimonial, with no strings attached.

Best regards,

Essey
