

Ramon Rains, Happy The Clown and Nautilus's close friends & relatives all gather in a church for the funeral of the former MWE War Against Time Champion, former CBE Grand Prix Champion, former IWF Soul of Iron championship and the greatest MWE TOTAL INVASION CHAMPION, Waterline's own Leviathan... NAUTILUS

The church is decorated in black seaweed, rocks and pictures and memorabilia of nautilus. In the front a closed coral bed coffin with nautilus's body in it, and complimentary packs of Newport cigarettes.

Ramon is seen in a black suit with tears staining down his face and rage in his eyes. Ramon goes up after the pastor talks and reminds and grieves Nauty and tries to tell everyone Everything will be okay.

RR: "hi, everyone. Please bear with me, I'm gonna talk about my leviathan, my friend. Someone I called a brother. Nautilus, he was not only one of the greatest wrestlers of this generation, not just my tag partner in the ring, but a friend. He may not be human but he was someone I trusted not just in the ring but outside of the ring, someone I knew I thought I would always have by my side. But now... he's gone. I remember when I first met him. I made fun of him, and called him salmon breath. Good times. But now, I have memories more important, times we'd go out to eat, we'd talk about our matches, his wins, my losses., hell we even hopped on Minecraft. the plans we had... that we now can't achieve.... Everything I do from now on. Will be in honor of the late great nautilus." Ramon tears up and steps back for happy to say something

HAPPY:

"Most of you know me as Happy. But today, I am sad. I had not known Nautilus long, but he was a friend- nay, a brother. They always say, fish are friends, not food. I can soundly say that fish... that fish was a friend to many. I will always love you friend. And I will wear an armband at BTE with your name on it to give you one more fight. You deserve it. RIP FISH. For those sticking around after the service, we will be having fish tacos and sushi rolls in the catering hall. I look forward to seeing you all there"

At the end everyone says their grievances. And everyone leaves to talk about nautilus and all. But Ramon stays in the sanctuary as the lights turn off, Ramon sits their next to the helmet of nautilus now bawling his eyes out wishing he could change everything he picks up the helmet and hold it close to him.

This being the final image before the lights flicker eerily and the segment ends as all you can hear is the sobs of Ramon, holding nautilus close as you can see the pain in his eyes.