

Ally

Ally is one of the protagonists in the Left 4 Dead fanfic series “The Five Alive”, tagging along with Coach, Ellis, Nick & Rochelle to New Orleans in order to be evacuated from the infected populace.

Personality

They are antisocial, but their natural curiosity of the world & the people around them tends to bring them out of their metaphorical shell. They don't even see themselves as a hero- They don't want to be anything like that, even if they want to do the right thing. Labels like those make them feel guilty due to some choice words by some people in their life. And, to try to hide the fact that they have their own issues, Ally uses comedy to cope and to make others feel better

Having a speech impediment, Ally always stutters, pauses and fumbles their words- There are times where they can say a complete sentence without issue, but it's rare. Despite all the trauma they go through; they seem to still have some type of 'innocent' or naive personality, even being lenient- Believing that “everyone deserves a second chance”, unless the person has done something they believe is beyond defending.

Early Life

Ally grew up in Edmonton, Alberta Canada, in an abusive foster home that was heavily religious, most if not all of the abuse came from the father, Corey. Hybrids are rarely seen in the public eye & aren't super well documented, resulting in Ally being isolated from the world for most of their life until they were 16, one night, Corey had attacked them in a drunken rage, resulting in his accidental death.

After that incident, they had been placed into a Boarding School for a year, being disowned by their foster family at the same time. Not much is known about their life after this incident, as they don't like mentioning it.

Before the outbreak

Wanting to find themselves, Ally decided to become a vagabond; one who travels & never stays in one place. It was also an excuse to travel the world in any way they can. They've been to a lot of places, before setting down in a motel somewhere in Georgia, however their intended stay got longer, due to the talks of a quarantine being put in place. Some sickness is spreading around fast, & it doesn't sound like the common flu...

The First Group

All of their time playing video games in the motel & not paying attention to the outside world would be cut short when they heard a commotion happening in the motel lobby, quickly realising that the owner had somehow got infected, before being put out of his misery by a stranger. This person was Jerry, & his group was scavenging the motel for supplies & weren't expecting any other survivors. Frank was the leader, & decided to let Ally tag along.

group consisted of; Frank, Marcus, Jerry, Paul & Lilly.

destination would be whatever evac was still operational, but as the days by, hope was dwindling. Tension between everyone was rising. Especially Ally got a cut on their arm trying to grab snacks out of a broken vending machine, which quickly resulted in their arm being discoloured.

day, while looking for supplies in one area, something blew up, causing parked cars in the parking lot to all start blaring their alarms- Alerting any within a good mile radius. Frank & the others got into the truck, but couldn't make it in time.. Well, they could have, but Frank was impatient.

intentionally left them to die, most likely because he thought they were g to turn.

e Second Group was on their own for a solid week before finding themselves in Rayford, Georgia, hearing gunfire nearby. Before they could think about what to do in situation, they're snagged by a Smoker- One that for some reason was red in barbed wires, creating near-fatal injuries around their neck. Four vovors were able to save them before it was too late. They did their best ning up their wounds, once Ally woke up, they realised they weren't able to was temporary however. Ally is introduced to Coach, Ellis, Nick & helle, who are heading to New Oreleans. Ally, knowing that it's safer to be people despite their trust & abandonment issues, joins them.

Relationships

Each

sees him as the father figure they never had. At first they were unsure of to think of him, equally intimidated by him as they were with anyone else, once they warmed up to the group, there was no reason to be afraid of ch. They know he'd never harm them.

ey could describe anyone as their best friend; Ellis would be that person to . Ellis is a pure hearted man, & while he might be a near opposite to them, might be the only person who actually listens to his stories about Keith, if some of them don't end up being fully processed in their head.

worry about him, & seems to show that worry more obviously than s- He reminds them of a childhood friend, especially when he had given an alligator plush after their previous comfort item, Gnome Chompski, 'died' in the helicopter crash.

k

s scared of him, well, 60% of the time. They might not always get along for ethora of reasons, but Ally knows that he can be a good person when he s to be, but wishes that he didn't have to be so "negative" 95% of the time. n then, they're always wondering what kind of life he had to end up the way .

ually, they find it entertaining to say something bewildering just to see his reaction will be. They love confusing him.

Rochelle

When they were unable to speak, Rochelle was their translator; as she knew the language. She showed the most concern for Ally at the start, & gave them the nickname "Lucky" considering the circumstances they were in before meeting her.

She is someone that they can rely on, whether for comfort or just needing someone to talk to.

Considering that he died before they got a chance to meet; Ally doesn't know much about him. But wonders what he would've thought of them. When they found his body near the bridge, they felt like they understood why he sacrificed himself; the need to protect others even at the cost of your own life.

Francis

At first, Ally didn't really like him. His attitude was mostly the reason why. The biker asshole getup felt super exaggerated, and it didn't help that they'd been referred to as a "Pipsqueak" by him. But overtime, they actually don't mind. Francis can be pretty funny at times. He could also be considered an instigator of their chaotic-antics.

Louis

Humorism is something that the both of them have in common. When they met, Louis offered their medical supplies to him due to his injured leg; even though theirs were pretty torn up at the time too.

They'd like to get to know him better, but there's barely any time for either of them to really talk, but when they do, they find they have similar interests in video games.

like Ellis, they have a crush on Zoey though they aren't as obvious as he first. Mushy feelings aside, they'd still be glad to be her friend, and would just about anything to make sure she's safe. They share an interest in horror; Ally being more into niche, cheaper slasher films like Sleepaway Camp.

They have a lot of empathy for her, knowing that they're both young adults with a lot of trauma weighing on their backs.

Skills and Abilities

Heightened hearing

Nocturnal Eyesight (Can see in the dark)

High agility, parkour "expert"

Left Hand Mutation, only used if absolutely necessary (or out of desperation)

Weaknesses

Heat (Their body is constantly warm anyway, it's why they hate summer so much.)

Genuinely being cared for (not a literal weakness but you get what I mean right???)

Likes

- Chomper (Their comfort plushie, given by Ellis)
- Cold weather

Dislikes

- Being stared at
 - Being dehumanised, patronised & overall not taken seriously
 - Fish (Allergic)
 - Loud noises

Quotes

- “..Thank you.” First words after they were able to get their voice back.

Trivia

- Back in 2013-2014 this OC was a L4D OC, we've come full circle for this AU.
 - Their first outfit is meant to look similar to the Hunters, but with noticeable differences.
 - The Smoker that nearly killed them was a prison escapee who became infected during his escape, which is why he was covered in barbed wire. His name was probably John.
