

Satsuki Momoi

Name:

Satsuki Momoi

World/Verse:

Kuroko no Basket Kuroko's Basketball

Personality:

Momoi generally has a very bubbly and outgoing personality who sometimes acts flirty, especially with Kuroko. She has a romantic vision of love, falling for Kuroko when he gave her a popsicle stick. Momoi is very passionate about basketball, perhaps more than the players themselves. She becomes very serious and almost sly when analyzing the opponents, often saying that men are just too predictable. The only person she can't predict is Kuroko. She is normally very cheerful and bright, but when it comes to Aomine, Momoi can get easily agitated. She cares about him deeply, and because of that, she often acts like his mother and lectures him.

"He's the man I fell in love with."

Biography:

Momoi chose to go to Too Academy to follow her childhood friend, saying it was to keep an eye on him. They continued to be close even after graduation, they even went to college together. Aomine went on to play for a professional team. She loves the game more than he does and wishes she could manage it alongside him, however, she wanted a back up plan with life and a background in forensic science to follow Aomine afraid he would get in a lot of trouble without her. She was able to get the job as forensic science and comes to all of the practices to try to prove herself as a great analyst for the game, in hopes to be near the court once again.
