

For each of the following questions, decide, do you agree or disagree?

1. It is more important to be right than to be happy.

2. It is our responsibility to rebel against and break unjust laws.

3. A person should be willing to pay any price if he/she breaks an unjust law.

4. A leader can show uncertainty and maintain control.

5. It is justifiable to openly defy the law.

6. A leader has the right to make sweeping judgments over reason.

7. Individual liberty is more important than societal responsibility.

8. Young people should defer to their elders' wishes.

9. The roles of women have changed since Ancient Greek times.