

NOTE (as of 7:03pm EST on 12/15/24): I have since talked with varium about this. I am sorry to anyone who this affected. I fucked up, i should have just talked to them about all of this and kept it private. I thought posting about this would help my trauma in some regards but it ended up making it worse. Once again i am very sorry. I have not been feeling good at all lately and i made an impulse decision but that does not justify my actions at all.

I would like to rephrase that varium in no way actively wanted to do anything physical and i feel like this doc lead some to believe that was the case. Once again i am sorry for the chaos this has caused.
