

Chains By The Inch

There are so many products on the market these days, and I came across a website that caught my attention. I was searching for jewelry for friends who just had their first baby. I wanted to give the baby boy something, such as a necklace or charm that he could wear to his Christening. You, the customer, have the option to choose how your jewelry should fit. You can choose the length of your chain. This means that you can choose how long or short your necklace should be. It was amazing. I was presented with a website that allows you to choose the look you would like for your jewelry. This is what you can imagine Chain Cuban Link

The new method of buying jewelry is to purchase chains by the inch. I did some online research and couldn't find any other company that offers chains by the inch. This allows you to choose the size of jewelry you like. Imagine shopping for jewelry, and then choosing the length you would like. This new concept is amazing to me. You can purchase a bracelet or necklace, an anklet, or a belly-chain that matches your outfit and is comfortable to wear.

You could, if you so desired, purchase a length of chain to use as a belt to match your outfit. This sounds almost too good to true. This means that the jewelry fits perfectly every time I wear it. Finally, I am able to decide what length chain is best for me. I'm not being sold by a pushy salesperson telling me it looks great on me, when in fact the chain was too tight to stop my circulation!

Needless to say, I found the perfect charm and chain (they even have charms) for my new baby. I also ordered a beautiful chain (custom ordered) in a necklace and bracelet. I found a website I'll be returning to more often to purchase my jewelry. However, my husband wished it hadn't happened.
