Actively applying for opportunities in the data field, I am an Analyst having self learning experience/knowledge in handling issues about ETL process.

Dear HR,

I, Dheeraj, am an immediate joiner, enthusiastically actively looking for a Data analyst position or open to positions related to SQL, Power BI.

Having been exposed to handling data throughout its journey from performing ETL phases to visualizing data, I have honed the necessary skills that would make me desirable as a Data Analyst for your esteemed organization.

I am a hard worker, punctual and putting Organization priorities ahead. Furthermore, I am also self-trained on JavaScript, Power BI, Microsoft Fabric and did few projects which can be found on my GitHub.

I request/plead with you to give me a chance, let me prove worthy for the Data Analyst role and be an immutable asset and contribute to Team progress. As a Human being, I would like the best candidate for this position working for your organization and I reckon, I am a felicitous candidate as a Data Analyst.

Please Glance at my resume, which can be found on my blog. If I am suitable for this position or any other position at your organization pertaining to SQL, please let me know and feel free to contact me at any time to schedule an interview at your convenience, Looking forward to hearing from you.
