

Data Collection, Usage, and Sharing Practices

Our product collects and processes user data strictly for research purposes. We do not store any user data on our servers. The data is temporarily utilized to make API calls to OpenAI, where it is analyzed based on the content of the posts. No data is shared with third parties; it is solely used to facilitate these API interactions.

Third-Party Data Sharing

This Chrome extension does not share user data with any third parties. The collected content is exclusively used for making API requests to OpenAI, after which a response is generated based on the content analyzed. No user data is retained or distributed beyond this scope.
