

Unmistakably Mistaken (Heroine Tg)

“Deep breaths, Justine. Deep breaths. You are not mad, you are not mad.”

“A little disappointed, but not mad. Yep, definitely not mad.”

“What's up missy? Terrified about what we are going to do to you once the boss comes back from his raid? I heard he struck the jackpot once again and got to attack a carriage of a Noble today! What a day to be a bandit~ HAHHAHA!”

“To be clear, I am not terrified. And your boss ain't coming back. The hero is with that carriage and he will take care of you small fries. After all, this is the tutorial level and you are tutorial mobs.”

“Oh? You think some sort of hero will magically appear and save you? You have lofty dreams, missy.”

“Believe me, I have played through the opening of ‘Tales of Tuaria’ more than ten times by now. Your boss is going down, you can count on that. But that is besides the point.”

“What's a Tuaria?”

“Like I said: That's besides the point. I have come to terms with my situation already, but what really bothers me is how everyone today just mistakes me or misunderstands me in some way shape or form.”

“Eh...?”

“You heard me right. Earlier in the store when I went to buy the game, some weird ass lady pulled me over and demanded I help her, simply because, in her words ‘I look like a store employee’. That's no reason to pull a game out of my hands!”

“Ehm...”

“Yeah, that's when it started, because next I met up with the freaking Goddess of Darkness on my way home. And when we exchanged some small talk, this woman somehow misunderstood me saying that I like to explore the world of the game as ‘Please put me into the game!’ And then just pushed me into a portal iccold!”

“Goddess of darkness...? I know of a lot of gods but not a goddess of darkness. Do you mean Leovold, God of Darkness and Death?”

“Oh, you better not tell that to Nagisa. She might fling that god into the stratosphere if you are not careful.”

“Stratosphere...?”

“Where was I...? Ah, right! Then that portal dropped me at the character select screen, where a voice rang out to talk to me, which was new, I guess. It explained the things that I have known for a long time already and then let me pick the character, which to me was a very obvious choice from the very start. The hero Leonhart was very obviously OP so he was the obvious pick for anyone looking to speedrun the game.”

“Okay, I am convinced you are just making up words now!”

“But I would then again just open my mouth and say something stupid again. ‘Oh if the heroine Kiara wasn't flat as a board, I would have picked her in a heartbeat!’ Which was the next mistake.”

“For how much you run your mouth I must say that at least your body is a treat for the eyes.”

“Obviously. After all, when I said that that disembodied voice then answered something along the lines of: ‘Okay we can arrange that.’ and then blasted me with a freaking energy beam!”

"Like a magic attack? Those can be scary, I agree."

"You are definitely a tutorial mob. But yeah, something like that. I want you to try imagining something for me."

"Okay...?"

"Imagine a magic attack that makes you shrink to around 1.60 meters."

"So around as small as you...?"

"Focus."

"Ah. Uhm. Okay. Er... would be kinda small."

"Now imagine losing all of your hard earned muscles you got from training and fighting every day."

"I am very skinny though..."

"Now imagine your shoulders shrinking in width even further while your hips gain all of the lost mass and then some more."

"Ahm.. that would make me... look very..."

"And now imagine your dick imploding."

"Ah!"

"Welcome to my world. That's what I have been through, only worse."

"W-Worse? H-How?"

"Remember when I stupidly said that I would play Kiara if she wasn't flat as a board? Yeah, It's exactly what you think."

"But..."

"Lots and lots of pressure on my chest and suddenly I have those boing-boings you see in front of you."

"For a lady you talk very dirty, you know that?"

"Probably because I am not a lady. Haven't you been listening?"

"You made me think about weird stuff! And you flaunt your chest! It's hard to listen."

"Huh... That may be the reason why that trader looked so absentminded. So yeah, about what happened afterwards. So with a new jiggling pair of boobs and some mighty new hips, that character select screen actually threw me at the wrong starting position of the game. From what I could tell it mistook my choice for what I ACTUALLY wanted to pick and thought I was turned into Leonhart, which is why it dropped me at HIS starting village. Even the freaking game mistook me for someone else."

"I have so many questions..."

"Believe me, me too. So when I arrived at the village, I immediately tried clearing a few of the starting quests. You know, little things like defeating horned rabbits or finding an old man's lost dog. It was going well, until that freaking trader arrived."

"What does a trader possibly do?"

"Mistake me for the holy priestess, that's what he did!"

"The holy priestess...? But she isn't real, right...?"

"Oh Zofia is very much real, but that is also not of relevance here, because I AM NOT HER. I am already not happy about being Kiara, so why the heck did that entitled guy think I was her? I don't even look like her in the slightest!"

"I didn't even know she existed..."

"In any case I would like to say that him letting me choose my legendary accessory that makes Kiara pretty strong in the late game was a good thing, but for some reason this world is just absolutely weird."

"...in what way? You have said plenty of weird things already and I don't think..."

“Kiara is a kicker. And this ring boosts her kick power in the game. But in the game, It doesn't cause her thighs to blow up like freaking balloons! Seriously! My kicks are now slightly stronger and in exchange every one of my steps looks like this now!”

“Hmm... it is a nice view!”

“That is not the point! Which girl walks like that voluntarily?!? This is torture!”

“I find it quite sexy.”

“Shut up. No one asked.”

“Hey!”

“Anyway, then I went out to test my new ‘improved’ kick power, when the freaking orc and goblin tutorial event started and they raided a village nearby. I, the idiot, went to help, and then those morons mistook me for the freaking princess and kidnapped me! How the heck do I look even remotely similar to the princess in any way?!?”

“Err... I mean, both of your boobs are kinda big and...”

“What sort of argument is that?!? That's like saying ‘Oh, you two men have about the same dick size, so obviously you are the same!’ Honestly!”

“Ack!”

“So yeah, those orcs tied me up and took me to their king, who very quickly noticed that I indeed was not the princess. Like I have been telling them the entire time. So they just mercilessly threw me away and left me in the middle of Opaluz Forest.”

“Ah. That's why I found you already tied up back there. That makes sense.”

“Yeah, which somehow brought me to my right starting place, funnily enough.”

“What do you mean: Starting place?”

“The story of Kiara actually starts right here, in the prison of the Evol Bandits.”

“Starts? You mean “ends”! Because you are trapped here with no way out! We are twelve bandits against a single tied-up girl. What could you possibly do to...”

KABOOOOOOM!!!

“What the...?!? AHHH!!!”

“Your days as bandits are numbered, evil bandits! We came to put an end to your evil machinations!”

“W-W-What...? H-he broke through the gate like it was nothing. W-W-Who is t-that?!?”

“Leonhart.”

“How did you know he would come for you...?”

“Talk to me again when you have played the game as often as I did...”

—

Imagine getting isekai'ed into a world as a heroine. Doesn't that sound great?

Eh...? What do you mean you have played this game before...?

