Ease of learning: Their interface was quite tricky to use since there were no labels or pictures. There were no icons or text so we did not know what to do or what to press. There was also no proper navigation system since there was no home or back button.

Efficiency of Use: The layout was good but since there were no labels, the layout was reduced to being useless since the interface could not be understood.

Memorability: There was no back button or home button so the memorability was not good.

Errors: The main error was that there were no labels which made the whole interface hard to use and understand.

User Satisfaction: Overall, our group was very confused and unsatisfied due to the lack of labels and difficulty in using the interface.
