

How DUI/DWI Lawyers Can Help

There is a skilled DUI attorneys can do if you lost your license by blowing over the legal limit on a breathalyzer or if you have been charged with driving under the influence by failing a BAC blood test. Having local DUI attorneys review your arrest could be the difference between walking away and living with a suspended driver's license or using an Ignition Interlock device.

Strategies For a Winning DUI/DWI Defense

FightDUICharges has utilized several legal techniques to fight DUIs in the court:

Challenging the Accuracy of the Breathalyzer or Blood Test

Breath and blood test instruments, like all machinery or electronic devices, are not always accurate and mistakes are often made by how they are administered and processed. These BAC devices often fail to analyze blood alcohol content accurately. If not properly operated, maintained, and updated with the correct software, they can give false readings. We will request the appropriate instrument paperwork and send them to our DUI technicians for review. If Any discrepancies or reliability are uncovered, it could result in the readings being thrown out of evidence and a DUI case getting dismissed in court.

Challenging Observations of Intoxication

Observations the arresting police officer makes with respect to what he/she believes to be 'physical indication of drug or alcohol intoxication' may have many other possible explanations. Poor balance may be the result of bad road conditions, improper shoes, wearing heels, bad health, or a prior injury. Slurred speech can be the result of speech impediments, being nervous, or simply being tired. Red eyes can result from allergies, cigarette smoke, or fatigue. Unfortunately, it's been our experience that officers often exaggerate their observations in their report in order to make a DUI case seem stronger than what the facts truly are. After a careful free online arrest review, we can often begin to expose such circumstances from our DUI specialist lawyers.
