

Turkey Must Stop Attacks In Syria and Iraq: Action Toolkit

As Turkey escalates its attacks on North-East Syria yet again, take a few minutes to call the State Department and Congress TODAY and ask them to take action to stop the attacks. Your call can make a huge difference!

Please Call the Following Numbers:

State Department:

The Office of Levant Affairs

202-647-2670

Syria Desk Officer Jessica Edwardsen

202-647-2391

The Senior Turkey Desk Officer
202-647-9749

Your Senator:

Find Your Senator's Number Here

Key Targets in the Congress:

Bob Menendez, D - NJ (Chair, Senate Foreign Relations)

DC office: (202) 224-4744

Gregory Meeks, D - NY (Chair, House Foreign Affairs)

DC office: (202) 225 5021

You can use the script below to make your calls. Feel free to modify the script to personalize your message. When calling, you may be asked to indicate your name and full address or zip code. Most likely, your call will go into voicemail and your message may be cut at 60 seconds. The script is timed for that time frame.

Call Script:

Hello,

I'm calling to express my concerns about Turkey's escalating war against our allies in the Kurdish-led Syrian Democratic Forces (SDF). Over the last couple of days, Turkey and Turkish-backed jihadist forces have bombed multiple sites across North and East Syria as well as the Kurdish areas in Iraq, including refugee camps. The attacks resulted in civilian deaths.

This comes just one week after Turkey attacked the SDF as the latter was combatting a large-scale ISIS prison outbreak with help of the US-led International Coalition.

Turkey's latest air attacks could not have happened without the knowledge of the International Coalition. I urge the US government to end its complicity with Turkey's war on North and East Syria and the Kurdish regions in Iraq. As allies of the SDF, the US must:

1. Threaten Turkey with clear consequences if it continues its attacks.
2. Suspend all military aid to Turkey.
3. Implement a no-fly zone to stop air attacks.