SBL: I found a gift for you

Hi {business name}

I was looking for a massage clinic on Yelp for a friend wanting to go somewhere to get away from the feeling of the city,
Then I stumbled on your Website And I knew I found a gift for you.

Your messages looked like the perfect antidote to a busy and stressful life and your clinic design is a true reflection of the beauty and wisdom of Thai culture.

but when I was your guy's landing page I couldn't help but notice, it wasn't doing the best for being able to refer people to want to buy your services from you or to sign up for your newsletter and it isn't doing what a good landing page could do and is intended to do.

To illustrate my points I said let me write a few improvements for you that could increase your engagement and lead to wonderful times for you and your business in the future.

Do you want to have a look at the improvements I made?
I know it can get busy running a business so you can just reply with a yes and I'll send it over.

Kind Regards

Nathan.

Hi {business name}

While I was looking for a nice massage clinic on Yelp for a friend wanting to go somewhere to get away from the feeling of the city I stumbled on your Website and I know I found a gift for you.

Your massages looked like the perfect antidote to a busy and stressful life and I found it good how you guys have all your pricing and services on your website because it's good for potential customers looking for information but when I was on your guy's landing page wasn't doing the best for referring people to want to buy your services from you or to sign up to a sign up to your newsletter and it's not doing what a good landing page could do and is intended to do, so I just had a crazy idea and said why not write a few improvements for your landing page that could increase your customer engagement and lead them to want your service more and also drive them where you want them to go to buy more of your massage clinic services do you want to have a look at the landing page improvements I made?

I know it can get busy running a business so you can just reply with a yes and I'll send it over

Kind Regards

Nathan.
