

“When you see something that is not right, not just, not fair, you have a moral obligation to say something. To do something. Our children and their children will ask us, ‘What did you do? What did you say?’” John Lewis

“The 30-minute documentary Voter Suppression starkly shows how systemic racism prevents people of color from voting due to barriers in the voter registration process, restrictions on casting ballots, removing polling locations and partisan-rigged district maps. It is eye-opening and troubling. It’s important to provide this traditionally-disenfranchised population with the information they need to exercise their right to vote. The most effective way to do this is to have a one-on-one personal conversation. Phone banking offers that opportunity.” Ruth Silver
