Are you an experienced Chef in Russian Cuisine? Are you a hard-working, ambitious person, ready to be a Head Chef in a famous Russian restaurant? If you answered yes to these questions, then you are in luck. Borshtch is seeking an experienced Chef to fill their position of Head Chef. All applicants must speak fluent English and Russian and must have the right to work in the UK. Please call 02 2803 7653 to arrange an interview.

Employer Card

You are the owner of a Russian Restaurant in London. You need to employ an experienced Russian Head Chef to work in your kitchen. The applicants for this position:

1) Must have at least 2 years' experience as a chef because the person will be in charge of the kitchen.
2) Must speak fluent English and Russian.
3) Must have recognized training in preparing Russian food from a reputable cooking academy.
4) Must be looking for a long-term position.
5) Must be able to work in the UK.

Desirable qualities (preferred but not essential) are:

1) Should possess leadership qualities in character, experience in a leadership role desirable.
2) Should have experience working in a Russian restaurant.
3) Should be organized, efficient, punctual and hard-working.
4) Should be able to build good relationships with co-workers.

Jobseeker 1 (Male)

Your name is Sergey Ivanoff and you are an experienced Russian chef. You are 55 years old. You have been living in London since you were ten and learnt to cook Russian food from your mother and then from the London school of Russian Cuisine. You used to own your own Russian restaurant but you sold it, because you are getting older. You are hoping to retire in ten years. You speak English better than Russian but still speak Russian well. You are a UK citizen.

Jobseeker 2 (Female)

Your name is Maria Petrovskaya and you are 30. You are Russian and are in the UK on a 2 year work visa. You are from Saint Petersburg and worked in a restaurant there for ten years before you came over to the UK. You studied Russian Cuisine at the Moscow Centre for Culinary Arts. In a Russian restaurant, your job was Second Chef and you left the job because you want to be a Head Chef. You are hoping to get a job in the UK so you can extend your visa and move to London permanently.

Jobseeker 3 (Male)

Your name is Peter McDonald and you are 35. You are a Canadian who has been fascinated with Russian food since studying Russian in the university. You learnt to cook Russian food formally at the Toronto College of Cuisine and have worked in a Russian restaurant in Toronto for 5 years. For 2 of the 5 years you were the Head Chef there. You left the job however, because you had an argument with the restaurant owner over the menu. You're not sure if you are going to move permanently yet. You speak English as a first language and a good Russian.

Jobseeker 4 (Female)

Your name is Tatyana Serova and you are a college graduate from Russian Cuisine College of Edinburg . You are 24. You are ambitious and but don't have experience. You worked at the Edinburg Casino whilst at College as a kitchen hand for two years. You are a UK citizen but you were born in Russia. You have moved to London with your boyfriend for his job. You speak fluent Russian and English. Your boss at the Casino praised your hard-work and dedication.

Jobseeker 5 (Male)

Your name is Boris Urgant and you are Russian. You are 37 years old and have married an English woman. You have moved to the UK permanently. In Russia, you worked at a restaurant called 'The Teremok' which is how you met your wife. You worked as a head chef there for ten years and had good relationships with all of your co-workers. You speak fluent Russian but your English is still not very good. You are taking English classes at London University and your wife helps you to study English. You studied Russian food at Sochi Food College.

Jobseeker 6 (Female)

Your name is Anna King. You are from the UK. You are 31 years old. You've loved Russian food ever since you tried it at age ten and studied at the Moscow Academy for Chefs when you were 22. You hope to open your own Russian restaurant one day but are still saving up money for it. You worked as a Second Chef for 5 years and then as a Head Chef in the same restaurant for 4 years. You left your job when your husband and you decided to move to London to buy a house. You are now looking for a job. Your Russian is not well. Still, you know all of the Russian food words perfectly. You are willing to study Russian as a Second Language at London University.