- Communication is important;
 - If English is not your native language, I can get in touch with friends who can help with translating.
 - Any attempts to role-play during our transaction will result in termination of the commission and a refund will be issued in accordance with the refund policy.
 - Be concise and clear of what you are requesting, be as descriptive as possible.
 - A vague generalization of a provided idea will result in artistic liberties/artistic interpretation to be taken. If this is not acceptable, I will ask for more clarification.
 - I will ask for permission before making MAJOR adjustments or changes that are not in line with the customer's original commission request. (e.g. adding additional characters, modifying the background, changing the pose etc.)
 - This may be the result of composition, idea, practice, within my limited abilities as an artist.
- I will be sharing client commissions with trusted friends who could help me with feedback and correcting potential errors to provide the best possible final product, which I can deliver.

- Do not send messages on a systemic/daily basis asking for updates, ETA, or casual conversation that eventually leads to updates to the image. Any occurrence of this may result in termination of the commission and a refund will be issued in accordance with the refund policy.
 - I do have a full-time job and other responsibilities to take care of, and do as much as I can. Please be patient with me
- I will NOT give any sort of ETA of the completion
- Evaluate and examine the sketch THOROUGHLY and request changes as necessary after approval has been given, the product will (A.) be finalized (B.) begin the next stage of the process.
 - Any additional request for changes after inking and coloring has begun may incur additional fees.
- Express permission must be provided via screen capture receipts or have the owner of the Original Character message me with approval.
 - Failing to provide approval will result in a refusal in commission.
 - An option to switch original character will be provided before refusal.
 - Gifts/birthday gifts/Holiday gifts are not an exception.
- All commissions will be public and posted to social profiles
 - I will not agree to private commissions at this time.
- A 75% surcharge on the total price will be placed on any theme requested on my maybe list. This includes existing ych, and all levels of commission types. Any themes on this list will not be available on any potential raffles or future give aways
 - Eg. (base price) * 1.75 = new total
 - $45*1.75=$78.75
 - I will thoroughly verify with client that they understand this and is acceptable upon request
