

By purchasing anything from me starting Dec 2019, you agree to these following conditions

If I have to cancel something you will receive a full refund, if you cancel something I have already began you will get a partial refund based on what I've gotten done so far and the half finished image

By purchasing an image you can edit it if your character changes or if you find something wrong about it after the revision cutoff but please do not use it as a base or edit it to multiple different characters.

Revision cutoff is 1 week after finish date, can be unlimited but can only be told twice, and does not apply to stylistic choices such as mild color changes for lighting, non large breasts, anatomy ratios, etc.

Correct example : I want you to fix the hair style, add this one marking, add a dew claw

*1 day later *

Can you a,so add whiskers? Also I changed her design , could you include this one pattern

Wrong example :

I don't like that her boobs aren't big enough, please fix it

*1day later *

Can you change the colors you used? Her belly is black not dark grey

*1 week later*

I actually was wondering if you could add this pattern since I added it to her design?

I do not do deadlines or updates ! If I ever do a deadline or update it's because I feel like it, it is a rare occurrence, please do not expect it. I am busy during the day and do not have WiFi and work during free hours so I will typically finish a whole piece without access to WiFi and therefore without access to update anything to you.

I also do not work on weekends except on rare occurrence because weekends are for rest or physical items since I get to be at home.

If you pester for updates more than twice within a week I will refund you based on how much I got done similar to if you had cancelled it, I typically get done with work within one week unless something irl comes up , and in the event that it does I will let you know and you can choose between a full refund or waiting depending on the circumstance
