~~Answering Questions~~

-Is there no nsfw side or those specifically matched up to share nsfw?

There is no nsfw side this time, sorry. The main Mod is a minor so he cannot properly watch over that, though we will be as flexible as possible in what is and isn't allowed. (See more in next questions)

-Can you explain what you mean by "no angst" in the rules ?

Honestly, our main mod wrote that late at night. XD We're willing to have angst as long as it doesn't include extreme explicit gore or sexual themes. (I'll fix that up in a moment)

-Would sfw angst be allowed, or themes like mental health / queerphobia ?

Sfw angst will be allowed and themes like mental health and queerphobia will be allowed as long as the following are met:

-The person you are gifting has to be ok with those themes. We will add a question on the application forms for Triggers/don't wants

-Mental health is ok as long as there isn't any form of physical harm from it. Passing or implied will be ok (again as long as the giftee is ok with it), but nothing further than that.

-Queerphobia will be allowed as long as (again, it's ok with the giftee). It also cannot be a projection of your own views or incorporate actual queerphobia. (Basically, if a character is saying/thinking those things, that's ok, but if it's written as part of the story (narrator's point of view) than it is not).

-I would be willing to be a writer or artist. / Would we be able to pick both art and fic as the gift we want if we don't care about the medium ?

Yes! In the application, we'll make sure there is an option for 'any' if you don't mind what medium you create/receive and we will choose what you do/get based off where your preferences best fit with other participants.

I have a full time job and this would most likely be happening during my busy season. Will there be extensions if it's needed? I'd want to gift someone with a quality piece not a rushed piece.

That's completely understandable! We will be allowing extensions for those who genuinely need them. We'll sort out how that will work when it comes closer to publishing dates, but yes, we are completely open to that. (You'll just have to make sure you contact a Mod and arrange it so we know what's happening.)
