JAMES STUART Fireman

James, 26, is a fireman. He comes from Scotland, but now he lives in Sussex, England. He works at a small fire station near Brighton. James drives the fire engines. He works 10 days a month. He's at work for 24 hours, and then he has 48 hours off. It's a difficult job, but he likes it.

He's married, with two children, and on his free days he takes Lara (6) to school and enjoys playing with Max (4). He also goes to the gym, and he plays snooker.

MAGGIE HOWELL Zoologist

Maggie, 45, is a zoologist. She studies wolves and she's the Director of the Wolf Conservation Centre in New York State. She lives in Connecticut and works with her husband, Spencer. Maggie also visits schools and teaches children about wolves. She works 5 days a week, but she goes to the Wolf Centre on Sundays, too, because she likes it there!

In her free time she reads a lot, and watches TV with her daughter, Eleanor. She also plays tennis, and walks their dog, Drew.

Frankie Dettori was born in Milan, Italy in 1970. He now lives in England near Newmarket, a market town famous for its race courses. His wife, Catherine, is English. They have five children, Leo, Ella, Tallula, Rocco, and Mia. He doesn't have many weekends off.

Frankie says: 'I don't have many free weekends because on Saturdays and Sundays I ride. I often have Mondays off, but then everybody is at work, so I have no friends to play with. That's very sad.

I have some weekends free, and I like coming home to my house, near Newmarket. It's nice – I get home on a Friday night, put on my pyjamas and watch TV. Brilliant! But, it's very noisy – we have five kids and a lot of pets. One of my daughters got an emu on the Internet, he's called Bruce and lives in the garden. We also have a gecko – it's my son's – a hedgehog, and two donkeys.

On Saturday nights, I sometimes cook. I usually do fish and chicken, but I cook a good pasta as well – obviously Italian food is my favourite. I'm a big fan of Japanese food as well.

On Sundays, my kids often compete in pony club shows. Pony club competitions last a whole day. We pack a picnic, the ponies and our three dogs and all set off for the show, a happy family. I like watching the kids on their horses.

In the evening, I usually watch a football game. I'm an Arsenal fan. I'd love to be a footballer, but I'm too small. By the end of the weekend, the house is a mess – there are children's toys and clothes everywhere. Catherine gets the kids to bed and I have a glass of wine.

Alexandra Burke was born in London. She now lives in a village near the city. She is one quarter Jamaican, Indian, Irish and English. Her mother was a soul and R&B singer. Alexandra won the TV talent show The X Factor and now stars in West End musicals. She likes to spend weekends at home with her dogs and family.

Alexandra says: 'On Fridays I like to have my family to my house – my brothers, David and Aaron, my sister Sheniece, my mum and my dad. I always cook. I make Spaghetti Bolognese, my favourite food. I love it!

My three dogs, Alfie, Prince and Teddy, run around and there's reggae music because my dad's Jamaican. My dad lives near me. He's a chef and I want to learn how to make Jamaican food.

On Saturdays, I get up late – Alfie sleeps on my bed – then I take the dogs for a walk. I often spend the day with my nieces and nephews. We have a picnic lunch in the garden, or when it's nice and hot we go to the park.

As a Jamaican family we like to have chicken soup on Saturday night. Dad usually makes it.

On Sunday mornings, I often do a 'hot' yoga class near my house. Then we go to church. It's always very lively, with lots of singing and a band. After church we sometimes go to the pub for a roast dinner and then we go home and watch the football together as a family. My family support Arsenal, but I'm a Manchester United fan. In the evening, we sometimes drive into London and go to a club. The Drury Club in Covent Garden is great on a Sunday. It's got great music – my dad often comes, too.

There is never a day when I don't speak to my mum or my dad. I talk to my brothers and sister, too. I have a lot of great people around me. I'm very lucky.'

Gary Connery is 42 and he’s a ‘wingsuit flyer’. He has made over 1,350 jumps from a helicopter over 730 metres above the Earth. He’s flown free through the air at 80mph (128kph) and landed without a parachute. He has jumped from the Eiffel Tower, Nelson’s Column, the London Eye, Tower Bridge, and from inside the Millennium Dome.

So, what exactly is ‘wingsuit flying’? It is the sport of skydiving, but you don’t use a parachute to land. You wear a special suit with huge wings on the arms and legs, and you fly for miles like a bird and finally land on a mountain of cardboard boxes!

Gary’s lucky – the sport he loves is also his work. He has worked in over 100 films as a stunt man. Perhaps you saw him in one of the ‘Indiana Jones’ or ‘Batman’ films or in TV’s ‘Sherlock Holmes’. But surely his most famous role was when he played Queen Elizabeth II in the opening ceremony of the 2012 Olympics in London and flew into the Olympic Stadium.

Lynne Cox, long-distance swimmer and cold water athlete, swims as easily as most people walk. She is American, but has twice held the record for the fastest swim across the English

Channel, from England to France. She has also swum across the icy waters of the Bering Strait from Alaska to the Soviet Union. This swim was in 1987 and took just two hours and five minutes. The two countries' presidents, Ronald Reagan and Mikhail Gorbachev, praised her courage. Gorbachev said it showed how close the people of America and Russia were.

Lynne has swum all over the world in even colder waters. In 2003, she swam 1.22 miles (1.96 km) in the Antarctic. Here the sea gets cold enough to kill a person in 5 minutes, and she got into the water and stayed there for 25 minutes. She has also swum round the Cape of Good Hope in South Africa and the Straits of Magellan in Chile.

Lynne has survived not only freezing waters but also a serious heart illness. She is a true superhero.

'Caving' (called 'spelunking' in the US and Canada and 'potholing' in the UK) is the sport of exploring underground caves. Robbie Shone is a cave explorer and photographer. He has travelled the world with his camera, from the Alps in Austria to China, from Borneo to Mexico. He has taken pictures of the deepest, largest and smallest caves ever discovered and his photographs have appeared in many books and magazines, including the 'National Geographic' and Bear Grylls' 'Great Outdoor Adventures'. In 2007, he worked on the BBC TV series, 'Earth – The Power and the Planet'.

Caving is often very dangerous. There are big dangers such as flooding or rock falls, but also smaller ones. In 2016, during a three-month trip to Papua New Guinea a leech got into Robbie's eye and stuck to it. It took two days before he finally removed it with salt and meat!

It is no surprise that Robbie has received many national and international awards for his photographs.

In 1992, a fall when rock-climbing changed Karen Darke's life forever. She thought her sporting life was over, but since then she has found that even when paralysed many things are possible. She has won medals at the Paralympics and travelled the world, having adventures on wheels, water and snow. Karen just loves being outdoors. She says: 'I think adventures can be anything – small or large – in your garden or on the other side of the world.'

She has crossed Greenland's 372-mile ice cap sitting on skis, kayaked from Canada to Alaska, and hand-cycled over the Himalayas.

She has also climbed Mont Blanc and the Matterhorn, and hand-cycled, skied and swum the length of Japan. In 2010, she became a member of the British Paralympic cycling team and in 2012 she won a silver medal at the London Paralympics. In 2016, she did even better and won gold in the Rio Games in Brazil. In 2017, she received an MBE from Queen Elizabeth for services to sport.

Karen is truly an inspirational and extraordinary human being.

SO WHAT GOOD HAVE THE ROMANS DONE FOR US?

ROADS  Romans built the first super highways for their armies to move along quickly. It's easy to see which modern British roads have followed the 9,600 km of old Roman roads. They are long, wide, and incredibly straight!	GLOBAL CURRENCY  The British said no to the Euro in 1992, but they have had a global currency before. People could spend Roman coins all over Europe, and in Turkey and North Africa, too!	NEWSPAPERS  The first newspaper was created in 53 BC, on the orders of Julius Caesar. It was actually a 'newsstone', and people could read copies of it in public places.
CENTRAL HEATING  The Romans didn't enjoy British winters – a soldier's letter sent home from Hadrian's Wall asked for more socks and underpants to keep the cold out! However, life inside their villas was lovely and warm, and we've taken the idea of underfloor central heating from them!	FLUSHING TOILETS  Roman aqueducts brought fresh water into towns and cities. This was completely new in Britain. There was the amazing luxury of public baths, even hot ones in the city of Bath. And we've certainly learnt the importance of another use for this water system – to flush away the sewage from toilets.	FAST FOOD  The Romans created large towns, and the soldiers passing through them wanted quick and easy food to eat on the move. The British began selling food from street stalls, using new foods and recipes the Romans brought with them. The minced meat 'patties' with bread and lettuce sound very like our modern hamburgers!
