

Edge Cases for Conformance Testing

Working set of cases for validating our conformance calculation ideas

Things we think shouldn't be an a11y issue for users
(even if it is a technical violation)

1. Tracking pixel with no alternative text that has no impact on the user (issue with SC xx)
2. Iframe is missing a title element, but the content of the frame is only a tracking pixel
3. Image missing ALT text, but meaning is clear from context (e.g. in image's caption)
4. Page with only a few paragraphs of text and two headings, both <h1> where the second heading should properly be marked as an <h2>

Things we think should be a minor issue for users

1. Tertiary feature of product (e.g. defining the white space above/below line separating the footnote from the body text in a document authoring tool)

To be aware of: # of minor issues that together become cumulatively too much
