In my opinion, Dogs are the best pets, here's why.

Dogs are playful because they are really active and they know lots of tricks. Therefore that means more adventures. Each and every dog has their own leap, jump, attacks and retreats. When they are playful they don't always have their tongues hanging out, and that's not for a bad reason, but when they do that, they won't dribble all over your floor.

Furthermore, theres more breeds and that means that they have different personalities because all dogs are unique. So they are sentient individual which may be very atypical, and if you want a fluffy companion, you should look out for a Pomeranian, chow chow, American Eskimo or a Bemese Mountain dog and if you're looking for a smooth and silky our you have allergies, you should get a Dachshund, Fox terrier dog or a Pug.

Finally they are really good guide dogs because they help blind people. They have a super good sense of smell because they can find people that are missing by their skin. Last of all they help solve crimes.

Therefore, they are fluffy, helpful, protective and a
