

Name: David

Age: 36

Current State: David works 9-5 in a car dealership as a salesman. He doesn't have many leads because when a customer comes in he/she always goes to the more successful salesman. He is often disrespected by his colleagues, and they sometimes make fun of him because he can't get many sales. Every morning he gets up and feels stressed about how his day is going to go. He always goes to work in a suit that doesn't fit him that well and makes him look not confident. His style is not that good even outside of work and he can't really attract beautiful girls. He can't signal status, strength, and authority.

Dream State: David is really confident. At work, he gets a lot of leads and converts them into customers, so he makes a lot of sales. His working suit makes him look confident and powerful. His colleagues are jealous because of how he makes that many sales. He became the top salesman and got a pay raise. He gets up every morning in the state, ready to conquer the day. His wardrobe has changed drastically. Even when he is out, he dresses really well and thanks to it he gets a lot of female attention. He now signals status, strength, and authority with his outfit.

Roadblock: He doesn't know how to dress like a MAN, or how to signal status, strength, and authority with his appearance. How to make himself respected.

Solution: He goes shopping which consumes his time. He may buy outfits that don't even make him look confident. Tries various elegant outfits that he may not like and costs him a lot of money

How the product helps him: The course teaches him how to dress properly to signal status, strength, and authority with his outfit, and basically how to change your life with your outfit (how to get more sales, dates, more respect, etc.)

If you want to check out the page here's the link:

https://centeno.clickfunnels.com/tss-sales-page-b1626944333325?utm_source=rms&utm_medium=menu-link&utm_campaign=tss

PAS Email

Subject Line: .

Email:

Have you ever wondered what your perfect day looks like?

You get up in the morning and you feel energized and you feel ready to conquer your day.

You go to your wardrobe, you pick your best suit that makes you feel confident and powerful, and you attack the day in it.

You go to work, you radiate confidence and power from yourself, and you attract every lead that comes in.

You are making so many sales that you are crushing the sales target.

And your colleagues have become jealous because they can't make any.

Then you go out with your friends to celebrate,

And you notice that this "mythical energy" that you radiate throughout the day is still on and even attracts a lot of female attention.

Be honest with yourself.

Wouldn't you wanna be that man?

That man who dresses so well that he signals status, strength, and authority?

That man who attracts everyone to himself by the way he dresses?

If you are ready to learn how to make your wardrobe a source of power and confidence,

That everyone wants to be around you and make business with you,

Then click here to find out how to radiate such an attraction.

DIC Email:

Subject Line: Influence reality with the way you dress...

Email:

There is a reason why successful salesmen become the top ones and crush the sales target every time.

And it's not because they are more experienced, it's not because of how good they persuade,

And it's not because of how well they build rapport with the leads.

They have a specific secret that they use in their wardrobes that not many know about.

And this secret not only causes them massive success in sales but in other areas of life as well like dating.

And it's nothing to do with the brand you wear.

Become as good as they are and achieve the same success overnight.

