The Issue With Blacklisting:

Blacklisting is a threat to the community and attributes to the deterioration of the community. It gave rise to the new “Political Simulation” scene within the community. When 1st FR got blacklisted by the community, it paved the way for “POLSIM” to take over the community. Don’t like em? Blacklist em!

- Is used inappropriately, impulsively, and with extreme bias
- To maintain power/destroy opposition
- Units can be blacklisted for any reason seen as unacceptable by Community (no written reasons to blacklist someone)
- Blacklisting units for hypocritical reasons (Example: 1MEB “Comp” Players being accepted to 101A with open arms, and now a vast portion of the Comp Community is still present in the Milsim Community.
- Blacklisting should not be apart of the Milsim “culture” because it does not simulate any Armed Forces Unit properly

Reasons 1MEB should not be Blacklisted:

- 1MEB has had a change in leadership, Col Loco currently is on LOA, LtCol Less is now the CO of 1MEB as of June 20th 2018
- Because of the change in leadership, 1MEB has reached new heights in proper simulation
- 1MEB is willing to negotiate new, fair terms of unblacklisting
- 1MEB’s previous push for unblacklisting was agreed to the terms of 1MEB detaching off of 5FR for 90 days. These terms were served out with no interruption, however 101A terminated the terms because Col. Phatticus thought 1MEB would die during that 90 day time period. His only condition after the termination to unblacklist 1MEB was to have Col Loco, CO of 1MEB at the time, address the CO of 101A, Col Phatticus, as “Sir”. This condition was politically driven and forces Col Loco into submission of 101A. 1MEB completed the terms previously agreed by 101A, 5FR, etcetera, but 1MEB’s unblacklist was still denied. LtCol Less, the current CO of 1MEB as of June 20th 2018, believes 1MEB has already earn its unblacklisting based on the terms previously stated. However, LtCol Less is willing to negotiate new and fair terms for the unblacklisting all units and personnel currently blacklisted.

If any Milsim personnel has any questions with the information presented above, please contact LtCol Less, the current CO of 1MEB, on Line. Line ID: im_careless

Why 5MR should not be blacklisted:

Henceforth referred to as [RCT-5]

- RCT-5 was wrongfully blacklisted under the assumption that 1. It bullied smaller units 2. Had disrespected Veterans 3. That the current CO was unfit for any of the duties that had been carried out by the CO.

- RCT-5 chose with the current PolSim going on to go internal and begin reforming and making sure any and all documents were 1. Up to date and 2. Began heavily researching to make sure that it will be able to set a near perfect standard once BFV is released to the public. Time away from the PolSim driven community has allowed USMC 5MR Crowe to grasp a new and improved view on MilSim and all its additions.

- RCT-5 has been in the Community for over a 2 solid years. Over that time 5MR has made multiple attempts at improving overall simulation whether that was taking a team under its wing, or providing assistance to teams to improve their overall simulation. (EX: 6MR, 9MR, 4APR, 101A…).

- In the beginning RCT-5 set the example for nearly all the USMC teams by putting out training doctrines and assisting USMC teams on how to better themselves. For a long time, RCT-5 had worked hard to make sure USMC teams didn't continue to use the wrong equipment and weaponry to make sure teams didn't draw negative attention to themselves.

- RCT-5 even when not Blacklisted on BF4 still sent an Expeditionary team to BF1 to guide and correct the BF1 community from past evils to make sure that MilSim wouldn't be corrupted.

Due to the reasons and concerns provided above, 1MEB, 5MR, and all other units should no longer be blacklisted.
