Bio:

Damien was used as a replacement drummer at a well known pub that played live heavy metal. Unfortunately for him, he was owned by the most horrible, abusive owner possible. He used to have 8 arms, now he has 4. How? Well, I don't think I need to say. One day, he was playing a show like normal before something happened. Hana Song, one of the most famous streamers of all time was in the pub. Damien was a really, REALLY big fan of D.va, and he was so excited to play in front of her. He played his heart out on the drums and, thankfully, she loved the performance. Or, more importantly, she loved HIM. He was the best drummer that she had ever seen. A few days after the performance, Damien's owner got a call. He was going to Korea to become the MEKA's personal entertainer.
