Other people might wonder why i didn't base my answer on statistics such as passing yards and passing touchdowns. You can't base the answer on whos the best quarterback on stats because if your team is winning like Joe Montana's teams were, you don't have to pass the ball as often as if you losing games like other quarterbacks that had better statistics. The goal for every quarterback is to lead his team to a Super Bowl win to and Joe Montana did the most times in history.
