

Woke Up in a Strange Land

I visited Egypt and took a nap. Did my alarm die? Was I put into a coma? I'm not sure, but I woke up in a different world. As I came to, I realized that I was covered in bandages, blinded by a bright light. A man named Scientist was examining my body, called me a mummy, and for some reason, he was frightened by my awakening. How rude. I interrogated Scientist upon my revival and he seemed as confused as I was, but luckily he had answers to all my questions. "It's 7pm on Monday, July 25th, 2022. You are supposed to be a corpse preserved by the Egyptians. You're in my research facility, and I suspect that you've been asleep since 4949 B.C.," Scientist explained. Really???, 4949 B.C.???? What the fuck does that even mean...? "I was studying you because that's my job, but you weren't supposed to wake up." Damn it...I think I overslept. I stayed up late the previous night because I finally made it to Egypt and was too excited. Even though I was only a tourist, it seems they thought I was dead and preserved me till this day as a sign of respect. Thousands of years later and I'm alive again, although I don't really feel like I was ever dead. Scientist and I eventually became friends and he introduced me to a nice hobby of his. "This is my stream setup and I like to be a vtuber in my free time" he said. A Vtuber? Maybe I should try it!