

Summary for week 2

Congratulations! You've completed Week 2 of Digital Storytelling for Young Learners. This week, we focused on using comic creation tools in language teaching. You all made excellent use of the sandbox and Posterous, and even though it's not a tool for making comics, Jing seems to have some new fans!

You can see all of the comics posted on the Posterous blog.

Our ideas for using comics in the classroom are on our Linoit Page.

Link to the webinar recording.

And EVERYTHING, ALWAYS can be found on the wiki page.

Feel free to keep adding comics to the blog and ideas to the linoit page--Week 2 is done, but comics are forever :-)

If you happen to have fallen behind, DON'T PANIC! Start fresh in Week three--Ozge, Dave, Esra and Shelly have great things planned for you in video stories. You won't want to miss a thing! (You can always go back to earlier weeks later, when you have time. The wiki also lives forever!)

Thanks for a great week! We hope you had as much fun as we did.

Jennifer, Barb and Shelly

Additional links shared in our Yahoo Group this week:

Social Learning video

Yuly's student project wiki

Toontastic

UK Safer Internet Day