Upper class = Upon receiving instructions to go to jail, the upper class immediately rolls the dice. If they receive an odd roll, they go to jail, but can roll again immediately. If the second roll is greater than 7, then they are released. If less than 7, they must remain in jail taking their regular turn until a number greater than 7 is rolled, or pay $50 for release.

Middle class = must go directly to jail. On the next or any following turn can pay $50 to get out or can remain until a number greater than 7 is rolled.

Working class = must go directly to jail. On the next or any following turn can pay $50 to get out or remain there until doubles are rolled.

Lower class = must go directly to jail. Must remain there until doubles are rolled.

The Bank - The Upper class is the bank.

Additional Rules

It is against the rules to complain about the rules. The sentence is going to jail; to be released, see "go to jail."

Any unclear rules will be clarified by the Upper class, at their discretion.
