History: CW: Family dysfunction, Parental Alienation, Manipulation Violence against a minor

TLDR:

-Born to Donsy and his wife along with his twin sister, Cassia.

-A couple years later, little sister Carmin was born!

-Things were good for a while, but eventually something began to shift in the parents' relationship.

-Ced's mom would start poisoning the children against Donsy, though it really only worked on Ced himself, who was a giant Mama's boy. Donsy would bend over backwards to try and get Cedric to love him again but nothing worked.

The mother was smug and would feed Ced's ego more and more

-At 16, Ced would get into a fight with some men who implied very nasty things about his mother.

-The fight would turn physical, and Ced would get his ass kicked. He would cry out to his mother to help him, but she would coldly look away and leave

Ced to his fate.

-Donsy would save his son from the fight, which would leave Ced with only a scar on his face.

-No charges were pressed due to both sides being of equal blame as Ced threw the first punch.

-Ced was too prideful yet also ashamed to thank his father though. The boy would just shut down from anyone that was not his sisters

-Donsy and his wife would divorce not too long after this incident. Ced would honestly feel really bad. But he still just... Couldn't go with Donsy despite what he did for him. His mother had poisoned him for too long.

-Ced would instead take both his sisters when he and his twin turned 18 and move out. Better to have no parents than both of these rotten ones.... Right?

-To support his sisters, Ced would suggest the move to Ethovalon so he can join the GCSF and make money. He vowed he would take care of his sisters no matter what. They were his only family now.

Cedric was born in the little Town of Delphini on Kala Island to a Deerling man named Donsy, as well as his Absol wife. He was not the only one born that day, as the couple had been expecting twins! Cedric would have a twin sister named Cassia.

The little family lived happily for a few years, so happy to where they would get another sibling only a couple years later in Carmin! But while they were a happy and loving family on the surface... Not everything was as it seemed.

Something would shift in the dynamic of the family. Donsy's wife would start trying to turn the children against him. Cedric, ever the mama's boy, ate up everything bad she would say about his dad. Despite Donsy's best efforts, Cedric would start to hate him and tell him to go away. Donsy would not do this, and he would stay for many years, never being able to get Cedric's love back after the poisoning his mother had done. This made Cedric's mom become very smug, and would dote on him extra hard to 'reward' her little lackey.

At 16, things would come to a breaking point. Cedric had grown to become rather cocky and spoiled by his mom. This attitude would ultimately lead him to a fight against a couple of full grown men. What caused the fight? It was simple. They insulted his mom, and claimed that one of them specifically had a relationship with her. But Ced would snap at them, not ever believing his mother would be a cheater! It was Donsy that was the problem, not her!

In Ced's temper, he would begin to fight the men physically. Obviously, the men would fight back originally in self defence, but Ced would not stop fighting them, and he would begin to hurl insults at the men as well. Tempers would rise, and the men would start to beat him up!

The pain would finally register in Ced, and he would start crying out for help. In a moment of clarity with his sight, he would see his mother, and call out to her for help. But Ced's mom would merely look at her son in disappointment, and look away. She would leave him to his fate.

Ced would give up fighting back after that. His heart being shattered by this betrayal. But before any more damage could be done, Donsy came to his rescue! Showing that all along, Ced's beloved mother was a liar.

Thankfully, no one involved was seriously hurt. Ced would merely be left with a scar on his face. No side pressed charges out of a sort of deal to pretend it never happened. But Ced would not really notice any of that as he would shut down mentally for a time. Only his twin and his younger sister could really reach him.

Donsy and his wife would fight and divorce not too long after that. And while the children would have the opportunity to go live with Donsy, they would not separate from each other. Ced refused to go with Donsy. He was just too prideful to thank his father for saving him. And guilty for causing so much heartache. He just could not process these feelings.

However, one good thing was that Ce was no longer a Mama's boy either. He would ignore his mother, and start learning how to work and earn a living for himself. Though due to his age, things would be painfully slow going. When he turned 18, however. He had saved enough to move out and take his sister's with him. He would take them to the City of Ethovalon. A city of opportunity.

He would join up with the GCSF, seeing how well t paid for someone as scrappy as he is. It would take another year and a couple of failed attempts at being on a GCSF team for Ced to eventually settle into Thistles & Thorns. They were all tougher characters there, and were fine to just let him do his job and nothing more. He would earn his keep on this team for the sake of his sisters.
