

Hello All, We continue to enjoy mild weather. We have had light frost these past few nights, but the real damage was done two weeks ago when we dropped into the twenties. We may have some rain later this week. It is no longer as critical; for the crops as it had been, but we still need some precipitation to fill the lakes and reservoirs and to recharge the aquifers which supply our well water. We are sending some onions in the share this week- the last of the season. We have been sorting through what we had in storage, and many had to be peeled back to be salvaged. You should use them as soon as possible. We finally have enough spinach for all the shares. We are doubling up on the brassicas and the root vegetables this week. There is cauliflower for all and either broccoli or Napa cabbage as well.

The share will be: Spinach, choice of arugula, tatsoi, or broccoli raab, beets, peppers, radishes, choice of an herb, Honeynut squash, mixed onions, cauliflower, Napa cabbage or broccoli, and Japanese sweet potatoes. Premium shares will also include celery and bok choy. Enjoy! Farmer John
