

This is a list of projects related to the core themes of Kai UnEarthed. It is not complete or comprehensive; there is so much amazing organizing and media production happening, and we plan to add more links over time.

If you would like to recommend a project for us to mention here, please email us at KaiUnearthed AT gmail.com. We are especially excited to connect more with local organizing and media collectives in Southern California.

This list also does not contain all of the books and academic articles that have informed the design of Kai UnEarthed. Bibliographies will be provided in later publications about the project.

Abolitionist Organizing and Media Work

Abolitionist Feminist Resources to Dismantle Policing from Incite

Abolitionist Teaching Network - developing and supporting educators to fight prison-like conditions in schools

A case to abolish prison - Villainus, a formerly incarcerated organizer makes a case for abolishing prisons, especially during the pandemic

COVID19 Mutual Aid Seattle - abolitionist strategies for surviving the pandemic together

Critical Resistance - building an international movement to end the Prison Industrial Complex

Decriminalize Seattle - a coalition calling for the defunding of the Seattle police

Fight Toxic Prisons - organizing at the intersections of prison abolition and ecology/ environmental justice

Free Alabama Movement - incarcerated people and their supporters organizing against mass incarceration; they have been involved in prison strikes and direct action.

How it Might Should Be Done - 10 theses by Idris Robinson on the strategic potentialities of riot, insurrection, and revolution unleashed through the George Floyd Rebellion.

Incarcerated Workers Organizing Committee - a union for the incarcerated fighting for prison abolition; they have been involved in prison strikes and direct action.

It's Going Down - on-the-ground, free coverage of the ongoing revolts against police and prisons

National Bail Out - a Black-centered abolitionist group that bails out Black Mamas and caregivers and organizing against pre-trial detention

No New Youth Jail - the campaign against the juvenile detention center in Seattle that inspired Kai UnEarthed.

Revolutionary Abolitionist Movement - a group arguing that the civil war never ended, slavery became prisons, and a new Underground Railroad needs to be built.

Theses on the George Floyd Rebellion - an analysis of the rebellion against police in the summer of 2020, from a revolutionary abolitionist perspective. By Shemon and Arturo.

Yes, We Mean Literally Abolish the Police - NY Times Op-Ed by Mariame Kaba making a case for police abolition and defunding police departments.

Transformative Justice / Addressing Intimate Partner Violence Without Relying on Police and Prisons

The NW Network of Bi, Trans, Lesbian and Gay Survivors of Abuse in Seattle offers relationship skills classes and workshops on community accountability practices.

Pod Mapping Worksheet from the Bay Area Transformative Justice Collective

The Revolution Starts at Home Zine from Incite, addresses intimate partner violence among activists

The Transformative Justice Practitioner Program in Boston supports young people in developing their transformative justice skills.

Afrofuturism

The Black Speculative Arts Movement - Black Speculative Art is a creative, aesthetic practice that integrates African diasporic worldviews with science or technology and seeks to interpret, engage, design or alter reality for the re-imagination of the past, the contested present, and to act as a catalyst for the future.

Freedom Dreams - a book by Robin Kelley that unearths dreams of the future inspired by Black revolutionary movements in the past

Further Considerations on Afrofuturism - an essay by Kodwo Eshun about contemporary “chrono-political” conflicts over the future

The Mundane Afrofuturist Manifesto - a call for Afrofuturist stories focused on the planet Earth.

Octavia's Brood - visionary fiction stories from social justice movements

Onyx Ashanti - can't really be described in English words!

Decolonial Approaches to Technology and Gaming

Aboriginal Territories in Cyberspace - an Aboriginally determined research-creation network whose goal is to ensure Indigenous presence in the web pages, online environments, video games, and virtual worlds that comprise cyberspace.

Academy of Gameful and Immersive Learning Experiences -

Making Kin With the Machines - an essay by indigenous scholars about how to relate to non-human beings, including computers and AI

Solarpunk

Solarpunk: A Reference Guide