Participle adjectives

Meaning

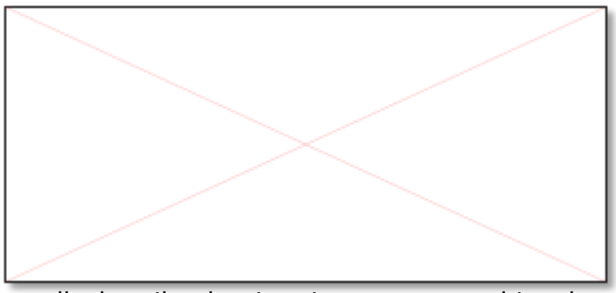

Participle adjectives are adjectives made from verbs by adding ‘-ing’ or ‘-ed’. They are used in the same way as regular adjectives, to describe people, places, and things.

Form

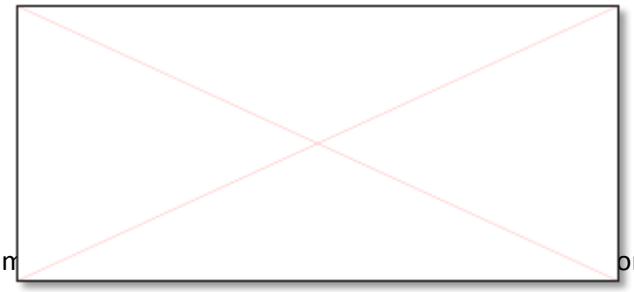

Many words have both an adjective form with ‘-ed’ and ‘-ing’, for example ‘bored’ and ‘boring’. This can be confusing for learners. For example:

Adjectives ending in ‘-ed’ usually describe emotions, how people feel. For example:

Adjectives ending in ‘-ing’ usually describe the situation, person, or thing that causes the feeling or emotion. For example:
