Reading

We have started our Reading Super Powers unit! A fan favorite! This week we practiced the skills

Pointer power: pointing to each word

Snap word power: recognizing the sight words we already know in books

Word Study

We have learned the letters and sounds for t, b, f, n, m, i, u, c, o, d, s, e, r p and j. This week we will learn l, h and k.

Math

We have started comparing numbers using the words more and less/fewer.

Writing

Writers are learning about pictures and words matching. Even if it's only a letter, it's still writing! We have started writing narratives or true stories. It's important to remember who was there, what was happening, and where you were!

Social Studies

We continue to learn about how individuals are similar and different.

Science

Scientists are noticing how things move, in addition to direction, this week we started talking about push and pull

We teach all the sight words at the beginning of the year and then use the rest of the year to review and practice them, these are when we would like the students to know them by, just want you to know what words we're learning this year! Please don't worry if your child doesn't know all the sight words yet, it is okay!!

So far we have taught to the word an on the chart below. The words in blue are words that will be taught this week
