RULES

If you are going to commission me to make a video, there are some rules you absolutely MUST follow:

- 1) Be Respectful - I will not work with people who are blatantly disrespectful to me. End of Story.
- 2) Please, Respect My Time - editing takes time, and sometimes I will not have enough time to always be working on your video. Please understand that I do have other things in life that I am a part of, do not rush me. If a deadline is specified, however, (for example: a debut, a specific stream, a youtube video, etc.) I will tell you if I am able to complete the video in time.
- 3) Videos are Subject to Change - If, after agreeing on a draft, I see something new to add which I believe will help the video overall, I will ask for your permission, or I will make another draft of this new addition and ask for your consent.
- 4) Videos may not be perfect - I am not a professional editor for movies or tv-shows, my work may not be the absolute best of the best. Please take that into consideration when ordering a commission. You will receive a video that is made with the best of my ability at the time, and my ability can and will improve over time.
