Subject Line: F*ck Jobs

Many people don't know you can make it, without a 9/5 job.

When we talk about a job, only about 65% of people like it.

There are multiple ways to become wealthy, for sure one of them isn't working your ass off in a job.

Thinking that working hard and overtime for a bit more $ in your bank account is gonna be worth it, and tomorrow you're gonna do the same exact thing, you tell me if it's worth it or not.

I'll tell you this, a lot of people are making now 10X more than they made before working a job, plus they do it, how they want, whenever they want, and where they want Picture yourself in the scenario.

If you really want to escape the slave mind take action down below and start studying, if not it's not the time, you tell me when?

PAS - -> Pain/Desire | Amplify | Solution

Subject Line: Dealing with Women

Tell me this, how many times you've tried your shot to get in touch with a woman that you really felt was the woman of your life?

Most important, how many times have you been rejected probably for just not saying the right things or not knowing how to treat a woman?

If she is not attracted to you even though you've given everything you can to seduce her, you might have some little problems.

Now, don't worry, this is not something bad for this exact moment, you can work on it, right?

I'm pretty sure you have a powerful mind and if everything I said up there is correct..

It's time for you to put a stop to all those roadblocks to women you have, it's time to take action...

HSO - -> Hook | Story | Offer

Subject Line: I was about to lose it all...

I was moments away from going broke.

I used to work on my previous basic and boring job, but things started to change, i was working hard to bring money into the house for me and my family.

The money I was working for a whole month, went away as fast as you can spell "I hate Jobs".

Months went by, and my wife would always tell me what we gonna do because we were struggling with the bills, and the kids, we had two kids as well.

One day I couldn't even take it anymore, I even left my office from work and went for a walk to relax, of course my boss was pretty mad that I left without saying anything.

Went back to my office, and after a few moments, I had a break, I was checking my social media when suddenly an AD from a guy Jason Capital appears with his book "F*CK JOBS"

To be honest, I thought this is again that get this one-book thing, and boom, you are rich overnight.

Also, I was curious to find out what it's all about, I was totally tired working 9-5 all this time, so I said why not?

When I got home, I bought this guy's book after seeing a lot of good testimonials online.

Guess what?

Long story short, not only that I managed to learn a lot of things from the book itself, and made me generate over x10 times more than before monthly.

Most important I could finally quit the job and start making money as a marketing salesman.

Now I'm able to support my family with anything, I have plenty of time for them, and I can literally work when I want, doesn't matter the place as long as I have my laptop.

To be honest, even today, putting them all together, I wouldn't think this is possible, I was too manipulated to work to make somebody else rich, not me.

It was risky, a risky move, but now it pays off, and I encourage you to do the same as me if you have a similar situation.

I truly thank Jason Capital for everything he taught me, and I wish I could help you too.
