

06/02/2024

Pre sale

Pre-selling is a practice performed by some crypto projects ahead of an initial coin offering, in which tokens are sold to interested parties at a certain price. This could be considered beneficial for both investors and the development team, if all was to go well and the digital currency was to be a success.