Subject Line: I put on my shoes and went through the fire...

Going through hell, is better with some help.

It was the first time I really woke up.

BAM, everything made sense after a long time.

I was never the smartest, at least I thought that. But at that moment I couldn't believe what I found out.

It was like the Holy GRALE for all my Problems.

I don't know why I never found out earlier, because it was so simple.

Someday, close to the beginning of my twenties, where my life just begun, everything looked so complicated and frustrating, I asked myself how do people get what they want?

I searched long for the answer, but never found it.

One Day I took a seat at a beautiful, big park in a big city. I thought about these, and that.

I looked around, and out of nothing BAM, I saw something that simple, but I never realized it.

The Shoes I can go through hell, I found them.

When you need help to get through hell too, don't hesitate, you will be shocked.
