

Bear-enisis

In the beginning there were bears. Then bear god, Raeb created a world, a planet. He created rivers that would give fish to the bears, skate boards that the bears could ride, and man, the most important creation. With man he created bearland, a country run by man. And man was good, till the end of time, and this is that story...

THE BEARBLE

It started with a man named Steve harvey. One of the first humans, Harvey was a very funny comedian. He hosted Family Feud, a funny game show that existed in the pre bearland times. It was a horrible time for the world where there were wars and destruction. Now, there is peace. Harvey sought to save the world he lived in and start a revolution to take over the world to be a ruling kingdom, called bearland. Harvey had realized that the bears were special, a gift from god. First Harvey got an army. Then he waged war on the us. He beat them and took over the country. Then Harvey went to China and took over that country. At this point it was a world war. North Korea had expanded and had taken over Russia and South korea. Then, the lowest point in bear/human history. Steve Harvey was shot while touring in china. And nuclear war started. Steve Harvey was remembered by many.

A true hero

Steve Harvey lived an easy life, but he cared for people. A man who would go out for fishing trips and drive a beat up toyota. He grew up poor and made millions with his game show. One day a vision came to Harvey, and he saw god. "Harvey, I love you, and I love the bears," said raeb. Harvey did not understand at the time, but this was the start of a revolution. He got his best friends, Barack Obama, Kevin Hart, Spider man, and michael. They all wanted to save the world for the bears. They created a plot. Slowly building up a following they planned a revolution. Eventually he had control of the country. His best friends Kevin Hart and Barack Obama also helped. But there were plots to kill harvey. One day he was giving a speech in protoreab, a city where Chicago used to be, when a man with a gun started shooting at harvey. Luckily he was saved by spider man. Spider man had been killed and it was a national tragedy. A festival went on for 1 month that celebrated the death of spider man. This was a big scare and they created much more security to keep Harvey safe. Then 2 months after spider man's death, michael was shot and killed. This made Harvey furious, and then nuked what was once Iceland. Then One day Harvey and Kevin Hart had just finished taking over china, when kevin pulled out a gun. Silence filled the room. Harvey looked at Kevin, his best friend, the man who helped him make bearland a reality. Was this how he would go? being killed by his best friend? He looked at the gun put against his forehead. Harvey remembered the struggles the bears had faced. He knew he was in his last moments, and he braced himself. Kevin pulled the trigger, Harvey remembered his dog, walter. He loved walter. Walter was Eugene, harveys bears, best friend. He remembered the strength of bearland. And as the bullet left the gun. The gun exploded. Harvey, completely unharmed, looks at kevin. He knows there is nothing he can do to help kevin. He brings Kevin to the place he loved most, detroit. While Kevin was seeing his last moments he apologized to steve.

"Don't worry kevin, i know you meant well" a tear went down harveys face, kevin looked into the sky

"Goodbye steve"

Harveys final days

Harvey had experienced so much loss he decided that he would take some time off. Parades around the world celebrating the loss of harveys friends. Harvey often was the center of attention with these festivals. He stood atop his float, designed by his own mom, before she passed away. There were millions of dollars spent just to do the festivals.

Everyone in the surrounding areas would show up, and it seemed that when Harvey was there, the whole world stopped for a couple days. Harvey was loved by his fans, but there was something imminent.

Harvey knew that there was a secret organization that had plots to take over the government, and it started with killing harvey. Harvey was constantly protected, 24/7. And five assassination attempts left Harvey to take a break from the festivals.

One day, while Harvey was resting in his hotel room in Egypt, Barack Obama came in with a terrible look on his face. Like someone had just killed his daughter. But no it was worse.

Barack Obama opened his mouth and said “steve. My brother why must you take time off, there are people waiting for you to show up in deep arctic”

“Obama, why are we doing this”

“For the bears of course” says Barack, looking concerned

“I KNOW IT'S FOR THE DANG BEARS” says harvey. When Harvey picks up a gun, Barack takes a step back. “What if i just” he pauses, and barack realizes the look. It was the look Harvey had before he did something irrational.

“Harvey, Walter is here” Walter comes into the room, wagging his tail. And Harvey is overjoyed. Harvey hugs Walter and starts sobbing.

After that, Harvey continued his festivals, peacefully. Everything was going well for him. Harvey was on his way to china where he would have his final speech and announce that bearland was finally real. When Harvey got to China, the festival started. Harvey started speaking. He knew something was wrong from the start. And that's when he noticed it. Bullets were flying his way. Harvey got to the floor. All of a sudden, Harvey felt a burning sensation in his chest. His vision went blurry, and then he passed out.

Everything gone

Three months after the shooting in China, Harvey was in a jail cell.

He was fed once a week and treated terribly.

With all his friends dead, he felt depressed. He can not stop thinking of Kevin, Barack, Michael and walter. They helped him make the world better. So Harvey did something drastic. The next time the guard came to the cell he would knock him out, grab his spear and run.

He got caught though and got sent to a hospital. The doctors said he Is going insane, so without thinking he grabbed the injection that he New would make him feel better and stabbed himself and infected Himself with the medicine. But something wasn't right. He didn't feel better, he felt worse and went insane. Immediately he ran at the doctors and threw them to the ground and tried to escape. With screaming and guards everywhere he didn't know what to do. Perhaps his mind was sore from the medicine. Or perhaps it was all a dream. But he realized this was not a dream as a guard stabbed him with his spear. Harvey didn't want to hurt him for he was just doing his job. But he couldn't help it and snapped the guard's neck. In anger Harvey had to get back to bearland. But it was too late. Harvey was on the ground getting stabbed constantly. In fear he jumped up and ran. He ran for miles not knowing what he was looking for. But he found the place, he found his home. As he walked in he remembered walter. Walter would alway greet him on the way into the door, but there was no walter. No kevin, no michael. At that moment he realized that they were dead and the only place that he belonged was with them. But was this what they wanted, did they want him to die. But without thinking he went to his bunker, grabbed the remote. And pressed launch.

The unthinkable

As soon as Harvey pressed the button he regretted it. In an instant nukes flew from his house and onto the world. He had done it.

But was this what he wanted?

"WALTER!!!" he yelled with sadness, crying he gets himself up

And immediately knows what to do. He gets on the loudspeaker and says "people of the world if you seek to live take refuge in bearland. But be fast for there are only a small number of people who can fit." the people know where bearland was or were they all going to die. Harvey goes to bearland and lets people in. It was simple to let the families in first then the singles, but when the final people walked in there was an attack. He must defend his people but how?. So he did what anyone would do, he shot another nuke. And after that another nuke. Then he activated the dome around bearland. Then he made an announcement.

" People of bearland welcome you to your new home. Now that you are all citizens of bearland there are a couple rules. First the taxes are on your children. For every 2 you have we take 1 by the mother's choice. Rule number 2 everything is controlled by the military you listen to them. Other than that there are no laws regarding guns or murder. And again welcome to bearland." Then the mic cut off and they were safe. With all the food, water and protection we need. But Harvey was depressed, and missed Walter. So Harvey did the unthinkable, and pulled out a lethal injection and knew this would kill him but he had to do it. So he stabbed himself and Harvey was dead.

Long after

A small group of children huddled around a man. He is telling the story of the greatest country, Bearland. "After the war, the world was lost. Gone with the wind some might say. But after 20 years of suffering the bear gods came to us. They chose leaders to make a utopia with bears, fish, money, and the military. These were the things that made up the community". says a slender man, he looks faintly familiar to the children but they could not yet make out who he could be.

"But what happened to the bears?" A small boy asked.

The man replies "no one knows, we still have regular bears but not gods"

Then the storytime ended, and all the children went back to their caves where they would feed their bear for the midday bear meal. The people were happy and so were the bears. With no laws enforced by the government, the people were free to do whatever they like.

No gun laws and only one law. For every two kids, one has to go to the government. Where they will roll a die for whoever gets the highest go's to the military. The highest honor. Or the work camps for 20 years to represent the 20 years of struggle the bears faced and will work for the economy.

The people were well taken care of. They had running water, electricity, freedom of firearms, speech, and everything else. But the military had the laws, if the military did not like you it was a biased vote. They can kill you if they want or grant you mercy. The children were sent to school to become whatever they want. After school, they go to their cave where their family awaits. With their bear and brothers and sisters. You have to have as many kids as you can so they can work for the government. The money was basic. It was also your flag and you bought food for yourself and your bear. Yes the community was perfect, with its controlled climates and ultimate transportation (the bears took you places)

Amazing education and so much more. Protection, unity, and bears. No limit to technology, nice holidays, and bears. But there is ONE rule you have to follow. You have to wear chapstick if you don't apply it 3 times a day you will get sent to the work camps. Then there is me. I am the elder who will live forever and was sent to make this community as good as I can. I also control the bombs children's taxes and storytime. I have a rare rare bear. I will live forever and forever remember the man who made this dream come true. Steve Harvey. Until there was a boy, a boy named nigel, he came to save bearland and brought peace to the bears, with raeb's sacrifice. Now we live in harmony, with the bears. And man will be good, till the end of time, and this was that story.

A boy named nigel

Nigel was a normal boy. He lived in bearland and his mother loved him.

As though he thought. When his mother had his brother the tax collectors came to their door to collect one of his mother's two children.

Nigel was certain that his newborn baby brother would get sent with the tax collectors. But no, his mother chose Nigel. He did not understand because he thought his mother loved him. But she said

"take the boy named Nigel. He is a disappointment"

And Nigel went with the tax collectors. When they arrived they were next to a huge building bigger than anything Nigel had ever seen before. He was fed and given water to drink. But after his meal, men in black coats directed him to a room with another child who looked years younger than him. Roll this die" a man said. So Nigel did, and he got a three. Then the other child did. He got a six. "Off to the work camp with this one," said the man pointing to him. He had heard of the work camp and how it was a good way to punish criminals by making food and mining resources for the community.

Nigel's heart dropped, he had never experienced a fear like that. Nigel slowly dropped to the ground and attempted to cry, but nothing came out. He just sat there, on the ground, in shock. Eventually the men lifted Nigel from the ground and led him through a long hallway. Nigel did not pay attention to them, he was busy thinking about how he could get out of this situation. 'Maybe it's all a dream' he thought, but he knew it wasn't. He knew this was reality, a boy named Nigel, a boy destined to work for free. He felt nothing. It felt like hours had passed as he walked down the cold barren hall. The tile floor reminded him of the bathroom tiles of his mom's bathroom where he used to sneak in to get an extra shower for the day. Nigel knew he would not be showering for a long time. Nigel was lonely, all alone, with no future. Then, out of nowhere, out of pure fear, he passed out.

Nigel woke up in a large field filled with other people, his head hurt and his legs were sore. All he remembered was getting chosen for the work camps. A terrible sense of dread came over him, he remembered that it wasn't a dream, the thought of it almost made him vomit. But he walked over to what looked like his work station. He picked up a pickaxe and started hacking away at some stone. He had recognized this. Powdered rocks were a delicacy for the people and the bears. He also realized a man who looked similar to his father, who had died in war. He thought nothing of it and continued hacking away at his stone block. After a month's work Nigel had realized that he had grown much stronger, being able to lift a couple hundred pounds. Nigel also had plenty to eat so he had gained a lot more weight. He had changed a lot from his old scrawny self, who could barely lift up his younger brother. Nigel went over to the man who looked oh so familiar, he had realized him to be drew, his uncle. His father had told stories of him before he died. He introduced himself to his uncle, and they soon realized they could start a plot. Although the military had many weapons, they were pretty much equal in soldiers. Not to mention a lot of the military workers were very lazy, and had grown weak as they worked. On the other hand the people in the work camps had done intense labor and were well fed and taken care of medically. They soon realized that they could start a revolution, to end the way this country is run. The bears are good but the people in power are not. And that night Nigel had an encounter with Raeb, the bear god. There were hundreds of gods, most were bear gods. And the leader of the gods was Raeb. Raeb ruled the world in the previous times before Steve Harvey went insane. A disease caused by an overdose had caused Steve Harvey to lose all sense of time and completely destroy everything. It was rumored that when Steve Harvey died, so did Raeb. But Raeb was there, in front of Nigel. Then he spoke.

"Nigel, it's me, Raeb. You are a descendant of Steve Harvey's only son, Reginald. You are the world's last hope. Steve Harvey's mind was killed by the medicine, and by the god of bear chaos, beer. You need to stop the leaders of this horrible country, and bring back the peace that Harvey once brought to the world, the peace we miss. And now, I give you the power of the bear god, and all my brothers. I give you the power of Kevin Hart, Barack Obama, Steve Harvey, Michael, Spider-Man, and Walter. And now, I need you to save us, you're our only hope."

Then Nigel woke up

The plan

Nigel's plan was perfect. He would stop his work to use the bathroom, but instead of using the bathroom he would set off the emergency alarm. As his uncle directs all the work people to a safe area where they could escape. Then once they were all there Nigel would destroy the wall that kept them in from the community. But there was a problem, military workers came in by the hundreds and he couldn't figure out why. Did someone tell them? Or maybe they're just bringing in more people for the original workers. But then he realized that someone had told the guards about their plan. But he still had to do it, in order to save everyone. So he stops and drops his pickaxe and runs towards the emergency alarm. He pulls it and everything goes into chaos. But something wasn't right, the people were not going towards a safe spot they were fighting. Nigel realized that the reason the guards are here is because his uncle had changed the plan.

"Attack!!!!" people yelled as they ran toward the dozens of guards.

But the guards had weapons and we didn't, And the guards had the high ground. But the people didn't give up and grabbed the pickaxes and started to throw them at the guards. And Nigel just watched as the guards had shot down dozens of his friends who felt like family to him. But there was one person who caught Nigel's eye and that was his uncle. He was laying down on the cold hard gravel. Immediately Nigel runs to go save him, and as he reaches him he realizes that his uncle was missing an arm!

His uncle could not move as Nigel tried to carry him out of the way of the fire. But his uncle was trying to help but couldn't and just sat there. "uncle!! uncle!!" Nigel screamed. But it was no use his uncle had fallen faint but as Nigel was about to give up he woke up and said. "Nigel, listen to me there are dangerous people out there and you have to be careful. You must also kill the leader of bearland and become the leader". "but how do I do that" Nigel screamed. "blow it all up". Then his uncle stopped breathing. His uncle had died.

The final battle

As Nigel's uncle had died he knew what he must do. So he grabbed his pickaxe and went to the main lodge, where there were multiple fights happening. But Nigel was not there to fight, he was there to make things right. So he walked over to the propane tanks that stood there and started swinging his pickaxe at it. After there was a good dent, he walked over to the gas pumps where they would normally use to put gas in. he was taking gas out. So he grabbed the pump and pressed release on the keypad. Then gas started spilling out. Still enraged about his uncle's death he lit a match that he kept in his pocket and threw it onto the gas and ran. He ran faster than he had ever done before. Then the building explodes and leaves Nigel on the ground with a big burn mark on the front of his legs. Still in anger though he helps himself up with his pickaxe and starts hitting the walls of the fence that kept them in. Eventually there was fresh air in his lungs. The work camp did not have fresh air. But not for long as a guard takes him and throws him on the ground. This was not a very big guard though, but Nigel could tell he was experienced. So Nigel grabs his pickaxe and throws it at the guard. The guard is hit but pulls the pickaxe out of his leg. The guard screams in agony, and blood starts gushing from his wound. Nigel realizes that this is his time to escape, but as he gets up he sees Raeb in the man. Raeb remembers all of his generations blessed by Raeb. He finally realizes what Raeb meant when he said that he would soon have the power to save the world. Nigel feels the power of hundreds of generations of bears surge through his veins. He has the strength to save the world now. He goes to the guard and places his hand on his leg. The guard's eyes shoot open with anger and he grabs Nigel by the neck. He realizes he did not see Raeb in the man but Beer, the bear god of chaos. This man is Beer