

Open up a blank Google Doc and write down as descriptively as possible everything you can about:

- What is your Current State and why is it painful/frustrating?

My current pain state is being broke, not being able to do things I want to do, and not being able to give the things I want to my parents. Not being focused while working, not being able to land and close clients on the sales call, not getting the replies, not having the level of skill I know I should have to provide results

- What is your future Dream State and what makes it desirable/exciting?

Being able to work as hard as possible and not making excuses. Working like an animal, analyzing my day every day, praying 5 times every day, and having a deep connection with god. Being focused while working

My futurable dream state be rich, make $30k/Mo by November, and be jacked, strong, and extremely charismatic. Have the best talking skills, can influence anyone through my written and spoken words, pay the bills for my parents, and all that stuff. Meeting Andrew Bass in real life. Be successful in every aspect of life, and have a strong network and connections. Location freedom
