

Talking to Frmr. NASA Employee, Herb Baker, about Space Shuttles, ISS, Artemis, and All Things NASA

By Max R. Rudin
Saturday, February 18th, 2023
Graviton Media
Announcement

Herb Baker · 1st

NASA Alumni League Board of Directors; Former Manager, Operations Support Office at Johnson Space Center

League City, Texas, United States · Contact info

500+ connections

Message

More

Titan Space Technologies

The University of Texas at Austin

Thumbnail of our most recent live stream, which can be found on YouTube at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=eLdETxlUYZ8>

On February 18th, I interviewed former NASA Operations Manager, Herb Baker. Baker worked for NASA for about forty years on human spaceflight. He retired six years ago and is now on the board of directors of the NASA Alumni League and volunteers with many charitable organizations. He was a pleasure to talk to and had so many interesting stories to share. If you didn't get to catch us live, don't worry, as the interview will be available on YouTube and Odysee to rewatch. If you have any questions for Baker about his career and the work that NASA does, feel free to leave them in the comments of the video, and I will promptly answer with his emailed response. If you're a fan of NASA or considering a career there, this is a great interview to watch for you to gain some insight.

Sources:

Live Stream links: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=eLdETxlUYZ8>,
<https://odysee.com/@GravityMax:6/talking-to-frmr.-nasa-employee%2C-herb:2?r=CZXkFaQbqihmueWm4xp657OewkdPor84>

Channel links: <https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCLT8D3pO3zaaPBKC8ZdTF1Q>,
<https://odysee.com/@GravityMax:602ee7f332e3f839160280cab932c8925cafee6f>