

Mission of Computer Engineering Program

The Computer Engineering program aims to provide students with advanced scientific knowledge and skills in theoretical and applied aspects. The program also enhances students' ability to conduct scientific and technical research, helping them adapt to future challenges and meet the needs of society. The program also focuses on qualifying students to compete at the local and regional levels by adhering to academic and professional standards.