

Infographic #5: Learning About Middle Adulthood

You are teaching a course on middle adulthood, and some of your students have indicated that they do not understand why they have to learn about middle adulthood, because it is so far away from them! You will create an interesting visual (infographic) so your students learn about the importance of learning about middle adulthood, with the following requirements:

- List and describe four reasons that middle adulthood is important to study
- Must include four images (e.g., pictures, charts, and graphs) for each reason (1 image per reason)
 - You should NOT include a lot of words on the images.
 - Briefly include the required information in a visually pleasing manner.
- Include at least one APA formatted reference at the bottom of each visual

You should put effort into this assignment, but do not feel overwhelmed by creating a visual. There are tools out there to make your information look good and presentable that require no skill or knowledge of graphic design.

You can design the images in any medium you desire, including Microsoft Word, Powerpoint, Photoshop, Canva.com, Infogram.com, or Easel.ly.

Once you have created the images, you will then copy and paste them into ONE Word or PowerPoint document for submission.
