Help my youth is dying

Self marketing and promotion is scoomy marketing practises that encourage lower quality content in exchange for exposure but Murphy's Law so add 2 of my worst takes and behaviour if you really can't help yourself.

Vows once I'm monetised and self sufficient solely off influencer social media careers:

Create a streaming and video platform to succeed current conventional media titans with transparent rules and fair unbiased rule makers and authoritative figures with fair monetization and support for indie,small unpartnered and non company individuals to succeed and monetise content.

It shall remain privately owned and this shall not change by my will

Should these vows be broken:

All content I produce and platforms shall be deleted and I will never return to an influential position on the internet or any social media platform forever.

THIS IS A BINDING STATEMENT
