

Who am I talking to and where are they now?

— I'm talking to guys under 30, single, possibly virgins, looking to have an unlimited number of matches on dating apps and limitless dates, as well as the ability to close any date and take a girl to bed.

They want to constantly engage in intimate activities, attract beauties, and have the option of multiple girls in rotation.

Complete hustle.

They don't want one girl forever, only many different one-night stands.

In their current situation, they can't get matches on dating apps, haven't improved their appearance, lack the necessary foundation to attract beauties, can't get a girl for a date, and certainly not a girl for the night.

They keep it hidden, and all their passionate desires have gone unfulfilled for years; they want to put an end to it once and for all.

English speakers, living in America/Europe.

They have earnings starting from $10,000, and can afford the course.

They've tried some garbage and cheap dating courses with a bunch of pickup lines.

They're probably watched videos of dating coaches such as HowToBeast or Hamza

The pain of loneliness weighs on them the most.

For virgins, the pressure is even greater.

They want to impress their friends that they can pick up any hot chick.

They want to have the identity of that guy who attracts every hot chick in the room

They usually masturbate and watch pornography.

Dreaming of a regular sex life.

What objectives do I want to achieve for them?

— I want to convince them to click the link and buy the dating course.

— I will accomplish this by various short form copies, DIC for new cold traffic and PAS for known traffic.

- While reading the DIC the reader will become curious to know the strategy for becoming a playboy.
- While reading the PAS the reader's pain point of being lonely is amplified and the product is represented as a solution to their problem.

What does the reader need to experience to take that action?

- The reader should be able to imagine a short movie in their head about their current pains and get motivated to click the link.

Reader's roadblocks:

The main problem is his needy behaviour and false beliefs that he can get the pretty girls just the way he is.

Reader's solution:

Completely change how he acts with women to attract them from the first moment of contact and make sure the dates stay interesting and he'll bring that hot chick to his home and have a great time.

How the product speeds up the solution:

The product has all the needed info and practices to help the target market get endless matches on dating apps, go on awesome dates with beauties, and have a passionate night, making them want to come back for more.

Personal Analysis:

The story used in HSO isn't that good. I need some help to make up a story efficiently. And I think that the DIC could help me get the clicks.

HAS #1

Subject Line: I was tired of using pickup lines and then I changed....

Preview Text: I tried everything that the most popular pickup line artist told and still there wasn't any success.

I tried looking at videos on youtube to get girls, I also tried their "guaranteed success" pickup line to go up to a hottie and build a connection with her. I tried every way they suggested to help me improve my game but it didn't work. I still continued to be that lonely loser like you. I remember my friends saying "You can't do anything to change your situation". I was almost desperate about my situation.

But then I got a chance to become a part of a community that propelled me from a loner to a classic playboy.

I went from someone who never even got a chance to get in touch with women to someone who gets unlimited matches on any dating app and it's not just limited to getting matches but also getting them to my bed.

The bed that once was filled with my deep desire to sleep with women actually started to become a place for pleasant experiences.

I thought I was never going to be ever living that experience in my life.

Thankfully I became a part of a successful community that not only helped to get 10X matches but also helped me to get laid.

And I have my Guru Daniel(guru's name) to thank for that.
