

Dragon's durability and attack potency is based on the amount of kakuhou sacs (rc cell organs) it has. This is due to ghoul's stats increasing with more rc cell pathways.

Even prior to its divisions, sections of dragon have several anti feats

Suppressed Mutsuki can harm Dragon:

Investigators, including base juuzou (with building level quinque) can slaughter golems made from dragon's flesh:

This was Juuzou after sustaining wounds from his fight with Kaneki. He was also able to kill pieces of dragon during its large town earthquake

Touka (who is currently nerfed from poisoning herself with human food for her unborn child) can damage dragon pieces with her Kagune (building level), and tear apart its flesh with her bare hands.

Urie (in base, building level) can tear apart dragon pieces and golems as well, as well as its "cables" placed on its core (Kaneki)

Oviducts

After Urie removes kaneki from dragon, it collapses into pieces (which separates the rc cell pathways that made the whole body from each other)

These pieces become oviducts, and each one has a core

Kaneki and Ayato go to one

This nerfed version of dragon also has some anti feats

Regular soldiers can pierce the Golems with gun fire

0164-001.png \(1115×1600\) \(granpulse.us\)

0164-002.png \(1115×1600\) \(granpulse.us\)

Ayato can also one shot a large group (he is building level)

0168-002.png \(1115×1600\) \(granpulse.us\)

0168-003.png \(1115×1600\) \(granpulse.us\)

Conclusion

While prime dragon does have 2 town level feats and also qualifies for this via sheer size, individual pieces of it do not have town level durability, at least not consistently.

Even less so for the ones Kaneki destroyed (nerfed oviduct version).
