

REAL LIFE HEROES

WALT: explain why someone may be considered a hero in real life.

WALT: organise related ideas into paragraphs and link them together.

Highlight the hero which you have chosen to base your writing around.	Captain Sullenberger (Hudson River) Alex & Rudie (NZ strangers) Cole (NZ 9-year old fundraiser) John & Ace (Christian the Lion)
Summarise what this hero/ these heroes do/did which makes them a 'hero'.	In Queenstown, NZ, Alex & Rudie helped a 30 year old man who had collapsed while out walking. Alex & Rudie didn't know each other and didn't know the man who collapsed. They were prepared with knowledge of how to help and ended up saving his life.
Introduction (What are the big ideas you are going to talk about?)	• Hook: How does someone get a 'hero' title? • Retell of hero's story. • 2-3 points you are going to touch on: from watching your hero, what are 2-3 things you think make them a hero.
Paragraph:	• Topic Sentence:
Paragraph:	• Topic Sentence:
Paragraph (optional):	• Topic Sentence:
Conclusion	•

Start Writing Here:

What does someone have to do to be given the 'hero' title? Do they have to gain incredible superpowers? Do they have to be able to fly and transform into a superhuman? No. There are heroes all around us - you just have to look. Alex and Rudie were ordinary people living in Queenstown, New Zealand. They came to the rescue of a 30 year old man who was collapsed on a footpath and needed urgent medical assistance. Using knowledge of basic first aid, Alex and Rudie, who didn't know each other before the incident, supported the man until medical help arrived. They are now being hailed as heroes for saving this man's life. As shown by Alex and Rudie, heroes have to be...[listing of the 3 points I am going to build on in the next 3 paragraphs].